Unseating Faces Two Legislators

Detroit Pair Called Unfit For Office

LANSING — (P)—For the first time in Michigan's 113-year history, two elected legislators face the possibility of being unseated as unfit for public office.

The two are Senators-elect Anthony J. Wilkowski and Charles C. Diggs, both veteran Detroit Democrats.

Their fitness for the senate has been challenged because both have been convicted of felonies.

Diggs, the only Negro elected to the senate Nov. 7, served in the 1937, 1939, 1941 and 1943 senates before going to prison on a charge of legislative graft conspiracy concerning a horse race bill in the 1941 session. He now is free on parole.

Wilkowski served in the 1933, 1935 and 1937 sessions before going to prison for four years on a charge of vote fraud. He returned to the senate in 1945 and 1949 and was seated each time without question.

In fact, Wilkowski was not unseated while he was in prison because the then Republican leaders needed his absence to insure them of a majority. If he had been unseated, the election of a certain Democratic successor would have given the Democrats control of the senate.

Marquette Garage Caved In By Snow

MARQUETTE — The Queen City garage unoccupied for several years, was almost totally wrecked early last evening when the roof caved in from excessive weight of ice and snow.

Part of the one-story stone structure had been used recently for storage of trucks and several vehicles were buried under the falling debris.

Damage was estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000.

Sturgeon Speared

CHEBOYGAN — (P)—First catches of the spearing season that opened Jan. 1 on Cheboygan county lakes include a 99-pound sturgeon and a 22-pound northern pike. James Cormican speared the six foot one inch sturgeon through the ice in Mullet lake. Clem Valot speared the 43½ inch pike in Black lake.

Flu Hits Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, Eng. — (P)—An epidemic of influenza disrupted Liverpool shipping today, bringing on harbor conditions that haven't been seen here since war-time convoys flocked into port. An estimated 30 per cent of Liverpool's working people—including 3,000 dockers—were in bed with the flu.

GOP-Dixie Coalition Set To Smack Down Fair Deal Proposals

WASHINGTON — (P)—A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats was firmly entrenched in control of the 82nd Congress today, biding its time to smack down many of President Truman's "fair deal" proposals.

Its leaders promised clear sailing, however, for anything the coalition considers vital to national defense.

The tight hold the anti-Truman group has on the new House was demonstrated clearly on the opening day yesterday.

Foes Gain Strength

There was no comparable show of strength as the Senate held a routine 38-minute organization session. But the party division there—49 Democrats and 47 Republicans—plus the fact that administration Democrats had previously been unable to elect an all-out Truman supporter as a majority leader, indicated rough going for the president there.

A similar informal GOP-Dixie coalition bottled up or rejected much of Mr. Truman's domestic program in the last Congress. Because of increased Republican strength in the new Congress, it promised to be even more potent in the next two critical years.

This was pointed up in the House when the coalition, by a lopsided 244 to 179 vote, again vested in the rules committee a virtual stranglehold on the legislative program.

Code Change Erased

The rules committee is dominated by a coalition of four Republicans and four Southern Democrats, the minority actually being four Northern Democrats.

It is the rules committee's function to decide when—if ever—bills are to be acted upon in the House.

To clip the group's wings, Democrats two years ago changed the House code to permit bypassing the rules committee 21 days after a bill's approval by other regular committees.

It was that change which the coalition erased yesterday.

The House re-elected Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas for a sixth term. He defeated the GOP candidate, Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, as everyone knew he would.

After the brief Senate session, GOP senators re-elected their top leaders and then got into a discussion about who will get some choice committee assignments resulting from their increased ranks. No decision was reached.

Small Children Die; Four In Hospital

BATTLE CREEK — (P)—Three small children perished in a pre-dawn fire which destroyed their home on the west edge of the city today.

The parents and two other children were hospitalized with cuts and burns.

The blaze broke out about 5 a. m. and swept the two-story frame building, driving back frantic rescue attempts of the parents and neighbors.

Dead were Billy, 8, Linda, 4, and John, 2, all children of John Lawson, a Kellogg company employee, and his wife Beatrice.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lawson and two other children, including an infant, were taken to Leila hospital.

Flames quickly enveloped the frame house and it was nearly three hours after the fire started before the last of the bodies was recovered from smoldering debris.

The eldest child, James, 12, escaped from the burning home.

Both Lawson and a neighbor, Roy Hart, made desperate attempts to save the other children. Flames shooting from the upper-floor window drove them off, however.

At Leila hospital, Mrs. Lawson said the fire started when a kerosene stove exploded.

Calls For Statement From Banks Issued

WASHINGTON — (P)—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all National banks at the close of business Dec. 30.

The Federal Reserve board issued a similar call to State banks in its system. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation did the same for FDIC members not covered by the other two calls.

LANSING — (P)—The State Banking department issued a call today for a statement of the condition of Michigan State banks as of the close of business Dec. 30.

Grand Rapids Signs Up 96 Conventions

GRAND RAPIDS — (P)—The Grand Rapids convention bureau has 96 national, state and regional conventions signed up so far for 1951, the bureau said today. Last year the city set an all-time record with 154 conventions.

Nation Swept By Debate On U. S. War Policy

Reverses In Korea Stir Up Millions

(Editors Note: What are the basic issues of foreign policy now being debated by Americans everywhere—on the street corners, in letters to the editor, and in public forums? And what precisely have outstanding Americans been saying, for or against administration measures for dealing with the world crisis? To recapitulate the principal points and proposals for grappling with international problems, an Associated Press special correspondent analyzes in the accompanying article the views expressed by four prominent Americans in recent weeks. It represents a careful study of what has been said publicly, covering points of both agreement and disagreement.)

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK — (P)—The greatest debate in American history—on war and survival—swept this country and across the world today, gripping the minds of millions of people.

It was heightened by new U. N. reverses in Korea.

Letters by the thousands poured into newspaper offices. Sober editorials analyzed the issues. On both sides of the Atlantic, and in the Orient as well, speeches, statements and broadcast reaction rose like sparks from the central fire.

Four Statesmen Heard

The debate was touched off by four prominent Americans, who spoke at intervals of about a week apart.

They were former President Herbert Hoover; John Foster Dulles, Republican advisor on foreign policy; Thomas E. Dewey, governor of New York; and Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador.

Detroit Lottery Ring Is Broken

Warrants Out For 10 In $2,500,000 Take

DETROIT — (P)—Police had warrants today for 10 men accused of operating a $2,500,000 baseball and football lottery.

Vice squad officer said the ring was broken through investigation growing out of a Detroit-Windsor international crackdown on gamblers last Dec. 2.

One man was arrested yesterday. All the others are being sought with the exception of one already serving a jail term.

Under arrest is Charles (Horse-face) Horenstein, 41. He was booked for investigation of conspiracy to violate the gambling laws. Police said records showed Horenstein had been arrested 62 times since 1927. But the only time he ever was sentenced was a 30-day term at the House of Correction here in 1933 after he was picked up in a gambling raid.

Police Lt. Clayton Nowlin, a gambling investigator, said the ring printed and distributed 60,000 football and baseball pool tickets a week during the seasons. He estimated the ring's take at $2,500,000 annually.

Three Counties Get Big Slice Of Tax On State-Owned Land

LANSING — (P)—Counties, townships and school districts in the north part of the state are receiving a total of $400,519 from a ten-cent an acre tax distributed by the conservation department on state-owned land.

Largest checks will be sent again to Luce county with $29,034, Schoolcraft $28,537, and Marquette $26,472.

Pilot Saves 49 Lives As Airliner Bounces And Burns At Chicago

CHICAGO — (P)—Skillful handling of a C-46 airliner in making a forced landing minutes after the takeoff was credited early today with saving the lives of 45 passengers and the crew of three.

All 48 walked to safety seconds before the big ship burst into flames. Three of the 48 suffered minor injuries. A 10-month-old baby, the 49th person in the plane, was carried out by a passenger.

Through adept handling by pilot Marvin Staddon, the plane was landed in an open field after it failed to gain altitude after taking off from Midway airport. The plane, one passenger reported, bounced along the open field, skidded into a haystack and remained upright.

The fire broke out after all 48 had left the ship. It still was burning in the field a few blocks from the airport several hours later. The plane was landed at 83rd street near Massett avenue, on the city's far southwest side near the big Midway airport, formerly known as the Municipal airport.

The plane, owned by the Monarch Air Service, Inc., had left the airport at 2:27 a. m. (CST) on a special flight to Newark, N. J., where it was due at 7 a. m. (EST) Staddon, 40, of Maybrook, N. Y., Arthur Howarth, 37, co-pilot, Miami, Fla., and Clarence Hyde, 29, Marlton, N. J., a passenger, were treated for cuts and bruises on the face and hands at a hospital and released.

Williams Warms Up His Old Program; Outlook Not Bright

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING — (P)—Governor Williams warmed up his unsuccessful 1950 legislative program and served it to the legislature again today.

The Republican lawmakers did not eat of the meal two years ago and are not likely to gorge on it now.

Appearing before the joint convention of the House and Senate on the second day of the 1951 regular session, Williams offered the lawmakers more than two dozen specific proposals and less than a dozen indefinite ones, the bulk of which smacked of his first term program which was rejected almost intact by the G. O. P.

Solutions Avoided

Possibly in keeping with his announced desire for cooperation with the Republican legislature, Williams' proposals were often conciliatory in tone.

He said, "I have purposely refrained, in many instances, from advancing specific solutions. I believe that we can best work out these solutions by consultation and discussion in a spirit of mutual cooperation."

Williams proposed:

- 1—The corporation profits tax, which he failed to get two years ago, as a method to "balance our budget and operate on a pay-as-you-go basis."

- 2—Fair employment practice (FEPC) legislation as a "question of public integrity and national defense which transcends all partisan considerations."

- 3—Financial support for the civilian defense program, state troops, expanded state police, protection against air attacks and mass blood typing program.

- 4—Increased workmen's compensation, the amount not specified.

- 5—An unspecified increase in unemployment compensation benefits and elimination of "inequalities" in the present law.

- 6—A state minimum wage law to "protect those employed in intrastate commerce against wages which are below minimum standards of health and decency."

- 7—A constitutional amendment to permit 1½-year bids to voters.

- 8—Repeal of the so-called "old age assistance lien law" which permits the state to levy on the estates of deceased old age assistance recipients.

- 9—Minimum salaries for teachers and adherence to the long-ignored salary schedule of normal school instructors.

- 10—Extension of the World War II veterans bonus to veterans of the Korean campaign.

- 11—Annual sessions of the legislature, which the Republican Senate already has under serious consideration.

- 12—A state disability insurance for employees of private industry, which the G. O. P. Senate already has under consideration.

- 13—His 1950 "Seal of Quality" bill to create marketing standards for farm produce, support for a soils conservation research and education program, more help for the Michigan State college experiment station and extension service, and authority to rural electric cooperatives to condemn needed property which now is allowed to private utilities.

- 14—A general fund appropriation for highway construction, one of the major controversies of the 1950 session.

- 15—Separation of the state's labor mediation function from its job of enforcing labor's rights to collective bargaining.

- 16—Help for the economic development commission in its program of obtaining war contracts for Michigan industry.

- 17—Authority to townships and counties to establish public housing.

No Drastic U. N. Action On China

Peiping Regime May Get Aggressor Tag

LAKE SUCCESS — (P)—Prospects for any speedy United Nations action against Red China beyond a formal condemnation of the Peiping regime appeared dim today as U. N. delegations debated future steps in the Korean crisis.

The United States delegation was understood to be canvassing support for a resolution tagging the Chinese Reds as aggressors, abandoning for the time being such stronger measures as U. N. economic and diplomatic boycotts.

U. S. sources said the aggressor tag was a necessary prerequisite to stiffer measures. They acknowledged, however, that any campaign for stronger action would make slow progress. The U. S. delegates met with various delegations last night and continued their meetings today.

On the basis of these conversations, the U. S. delegation will decide whether to present an "aggressor" resolution when the assembly's political committee reconvenes tomorrow.

The committee adjourned for 48 hours yesterday to give its three-man cease-fire group time to prepare a set of principles that should govern any over-all settlement in Korea should the fighting be halted.

Soviet Proposals For Big 4 Peace Talks Confusing

WASHINGTON — (P)—U. S. Britain and France will send Russia a new note in a few days asking clarification of Moscow's latest proposal for a Big Four meeting. Some officials here consider Moscow's proposals deliberately confusing.

While drafting the new note, the western powers are pressing forward with plans for creation of a western European defense army, including German units. Hope of disrupting these plans is generally regarded in Washington as the major reason for Russia's talking about a four power conference now.

No Defense Letup

Secretary of State Acheson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, recently named Allied commander in Europe, arranged to meet today for a discussion of the task which awaits Eisenhower, the organization of the European force within the framework of the North Atlantic treaty.

Responsible officials said there is no intention in this or any other important capital to permit Soviet diplomatic maneuvers to divert or slow down the defense preparations.

The three western powers, nevertheless, have agreed not to close any door to negotiations with Russia which provides a real chance of easing world tension.

Out of this basic attitude, and despite deep scepticism about Russia's intentions, rose the plan to send Moscow another note.

That this will ask a clarification of Russia's position on a big four meeting was indicated by Acheson at a news conference yesterday and later confirmed by other officials.

Illinois Family Believed Slain

TULSA, Okla. — (P)—Possible mass murder of an Illinois couple and their three children by a hitchhiker spurred Oklahoma officers into a fearful investigation today.

Police faced the task of trying to solve one of the state's most ghastly crimes.

A blood-spattered automobile, riddled with bullets, was found on a backroad near the city's outskirts yesterday by Osage county Deputy Sheriff Warren Smith.

Bloody clothes, a blood stained pocketknife and several exploded .32 caliber revolver cartridges were found in the car owned by Carl Mosser, 35, well-to-do farmer of Atwood, Ill.

A search was started immediately for the bodies of Mosser, his wife, 29, and their children, Ronald Dean, 7, Gary Carl, 5, and Pamela Sue, 3.

Relatives said the family had been en route to Albuquerque, N. M., to visit Mosser's twin brother, Chris, an army lieutenant.

"We're almost certain we've got a whole family dead somewhere," Smith said. "It's just a question now of finding them."

No fingerprints, footprints or blood trails were found. Officers believe the bodies were wrapped in blankets and carried away.

Why So Long?

The President replied that the administration is working on it constantly and that such controls would be put on where necessary, as fast as physical arrangements could be made to get it done.

The President was pressed by one reporter to tell why it has taken "so long" to set up wage and price controls.

This reporter asked whether Mr. Truman would tell the American people why.

Yes, the President said, he would tell the American people, but not here (at the news conference).

Giant Pincers Push Aimed At Port Of Inchon

Defenders Making Escape By Sea

TOKYO — (P)—Red Chinese forces seized abandoned, fire-gutted Seoul today and smashed across the frozen Han river to battle retreating Allied forces west of the abandoned capital.

The Reds were moving swiftly in a giant pincers movement aimed at shoving United Nations troops into the Yellow sea at Inchon, Seoul's big port 18 miles to the west.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said Reds in estimated battalion strength were across the Han and fighting an Allied unit one mile west of Seoul at 11 a. m. (9 p. m., EST, Wednesday). Other Reds were in contact two miles west of the city.

Evacuation Ships Loaded

Two Allied roadblocks were reported under attack. Their locations were not given.

The swift followup of the Reds' seizure of the flame-swept South Korean capital—the crossing of the frozen Han—underlined General MacArthur's report on the danger of a pincers enveloping Inchon.

AP correspondent Tom Stone in a dispatch from Inchon late Thursday night reported the evacuation of Inchon and said the last two tank-lading ships were expected to get away after a 2 a. m. tide refloated them. He disclosed that many of the ships leaving Inchon had been loaded for days in preparation for the evacuation.

It was from an amphibious landing at Inchon that the Allies crushed most of the North Korean Red army in a vice last September. Seoul was retaken from the Reds then and the Korean war seemed in its final phases.

Fleet Stands Ready

But the sheer weight of shrieking and seemingly endless Chinese Red manpower forced Allied troops to quit the ancient, devastated South Korean capital today.

They blew the last bridges over the frozen Han river at noon. Nearby Kimpo airfield was abandoned after its installations went up in an awesome tower of smoke and flame.

A United Nations fleet stood off the west coast ready to evacuate U. N. forces south and west of Seoul.

Only a frightened fragment of Seoul's normal 1,500,000 population remained in the ruined city. Among the bewildered civilians unable or unwilling to leave were lost children, wandering aimlessly. Dusty roads to the south were choked with military traffic and a pitiful mass of humanity.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton reported the order to abandon Seoul and its defenses to the north came as a complete surprise to Allied front-line units. They had just been told to hold at any cost.

British Ambushed

He said the order was issued at 2 a. m., EST, Wednesday. A British brigade fought a successful

Gas Bond Ordinance Will Be Considered

An ordinance providing for sale of gas plant bonds will be the first item of business to be considered by the Escanaba city council at its first meeting of the year tonight.

Bids for gas plant engineering and for supplying propane gas also will be considered at the meeting, which begins at 8 p. m. Other business on the agenda for this evening are consideration of bids for a new police car (if they are ready for presentation); extension of the tax payment date; a proposal to build an addition to the Jacobsen Manufacturing plant; and bookkeeping transactions involving disposition of bad accounts, provision for doubtful accounts and disposition of obsolete material in stock.

Bird Feeding Is Interesting

But Not Necessary For Survival

A winter feeding shelf for the birds is an admirable gesture—but you will get a lot more benefit from it than the birds.

This is the conservation department answer to persons asking what they might do for the birds in the winter, and how to go about feeding them.

Dr. Donald W. Douglass, department ornithologist, says Michigan's winter birds are hardy and quite capable of taking care of themselves. The total winter feeding, he explains, is too small to have any effect on bird populations. But the benefits of making close friends of the birds of the neighborhood, and watching them daily, makes feeding shelves well worth-while—for the observer.

Douglass suggests putting stale bread through a food grinder as well as collecting table scraps and suet for the feeding shelf. He adds that sunflower seed, corn and other grain may prove more attractive "entertainment" bait.

C&NW To Repair About 1200 Cars

To Complete Program Before April 1

The winter repair program is now well under way in the car department of the Chicago and North Western railway, C. T. Weir, car foreman, said today.

After the fall inspection of cars on the Peninsula division, 954 ore cars were marked for light repairs and 125 for heavy repairs to be completed before the opening of the ore shipping season about April 1. In addition, 35 flat cars and 65 hoppers are scheduled for reconditioning, and 195 cars will have their old A-B brakes replaced by the modern K-valve equipment.

The Peninsula division has 1,439 C&NW and 730 Milwaukee Road cars used in the ore shipping pool. Both C&NW and Milwaukee Road cars are repaired on the Escanaba "rip track."

Cars that were marked O. K. by the inspectors were placed in storage on sidetracks in Iron Mountain, Stambaugh and other points in the mining area.

About sixty cars are being used weekly at present in the all-rail movement of iron ore to meet emergency needs at furnaces.

Seventy men are employed in the car department of the Chicago and North Western railway.

Bank Reports 1950 Business Increase

The annual meeting of stockholders and directors of the First National Bank of Escanaba will be held Jan. 9, following a year ending in which deposits and loans were at an all-time high, according to John L. Greene, cashier.

The bank's capacity to meet credit requirements of larger borrowers was further increased Dec. 6, when the directors voted a transfer of $100,000 to earned surplus, raising the total of capital and surplus to $5,000,000 it was reported.

The usual year end dividend of 2 per cent on capital stock of the bank was paid on Dec. 30.

Mobilization of the country for defense may cause some local decline in the use of bank credit in 1951, but all applications from worthy borrowers for necessary financing will be considered, Green said. Purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds will assist the defense effort, he added.

Talk Is Cheap In War Crisis

Just Being Right Is Not Enough

By ROBERT C. RUARK

WASHINGTON—If you will pardon a little impoliteness I am just a touch fed on fine phrases and sweeping pronouncements as we have had them lately, together with the holiday hash, and suspect I ain't lonesome.

The rhetoric has flowed like a Christmas punch; the oratorical turkeys have gobbled interminably. There have been promises and predictions and threats but facts have been scarce—than loving kindness in the Cominform Mr. America, as I have been meeting him lately, is sore beset by puzzlement and plagued by indecision, and seems unwilling to accept oratory as a substitute for action.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, the recent winner of the Nobel peace prize, comes out baldly with a speech in which he predicts "no war." No war? What is this thing we have been fouled up in lately, a parched party? The first multiple amputation job of the new conflict flies into town the other day, minus both hands, both feet, A zillion Red Chinese mount a new offensive. We are struggling to mobilize a nation, and Dr. Bunche says no war. If what we got today is peace I will not have some.

Acheson Talks Big

Mr. Dean Acheson waxed as brave as brave in his message to the nation. The secretary of state pronounced solemnly that "we have the power to retaliate against any aggressor who attacks us or our friends, and that power cannot be overlooked. We expect to make ourselves respected and deter aggression."

My, my, Deter aggression with what, specifically? Right now I mean. A handful of men who have been clobbered in Korea? Take on the myriad Chinese, who are, I presume, the aggressors Mr. Acheson so delicately re-trains from naming, or the Russians who bankroll them and train them and exhort them?

Four sources of strength we have, Mr. Acheson said. "A cause that is right and on the side of freedom. Friends who believe in the same set of values. The industrial capacity of the free nations, greatest in the world. The strength in being of a first-class navy and a strong air force and the nucleus for a powerful army."

History has shown that the right does not always prevail, especially when other people think that they are as right as you are, and take the trouble to implement their righteousness with might. We may be mired down in friends who believe in the same values, but up to now they have not been particularly demonstrative about flexing any heavy muscles to defend said values.

Caught With Pants Down

You can buy the industrial capacity, so long as it is not hamstrung by strikes and subversion, but you can't shoot off your mouth too hard about it being the best in the world. Our military pants, production wise, are down around our ankles momentarily, while the opposition has been concentrating on planes and subs and guns and tanks since the "peace" began after V-J day.

Mr. Acheson is right about the navy. We have it because of a declared mutiny of a few top admirals, who happened to be resentful of the pure sabotage of naval strength by what was evidently presidential directive to ex-defense boss Louis Johnson, abetted by air force jealousy and greed for concentration of military might solely in planes. We have a fine nucleus for a ground force, true. You can find most of it right now in Korea, chin deep in Chinese.

Gen. Claire Chennault writes us a piece and lays down an ultimatum to Red China. "Quit fighting," he says in effect, "or else..." Else what? Take away their chopsticks? His idea is sound, about equipping the opposition and allowing the Chinese to chew up each other, but that scarcely constitutes a fearful threat. If it does, then nobody momentarily engaged in mounting the big Red Chinese offensive has had time to read it.

Talk is pretty, and speeches are free, and you can warn and exhort and cry doom and invoke prayer until your eyes bug out, but just plain talk is cheap as a manager's advice to a prize fighter when he's having his brains knocked out. Bunche says we'll have no war—we've been in one, actively, for half a year. Acheson says right will prevail, and I sure hope he's accurate. But what a lot of us common people want to know is how, when and with what?

Chriske, Tweedy To Attend School

Defense Program Is Under Scrutiny

Jack Chriske, district supervisor of the conservation department, and his assistant, Allan Tweedy, will attend a department school for supervisors at the Higgins Lake training school starting next Monday. The school will be a four-day affair.

One of the items for consideration will be discussion of plan for organizing a conservation department group similar to the forest fire fighters service in World War II as part of the current defense program.

The forest fire defense plan will get further study when forest fire supervisory personnel from all Great Lakes states meet in Milwaukee later in January or early February.

At both meetings officials will consider possible help which rural communities can give or receive in fighting forest, grass or brush blazes. Role of urban and rural fire departments will be discussed.

Some training of 18-year-old male high school students for emergency help, in event of big fires or loss of regular manpower, is scheduled. Women again may be used as during World War II. They would do routine clerical jobs, prepare food for fire fighters and operate tower lookout posts.

Kiwanis Clubs Will Convene

District Meeting In Milwaukee

Kiwanis leaders representing 86 clubs and more than 6000 members within the Wisconsin Upper Michigan District of Kiwanis International will gather for their annual mid-winter conference, January 7-8 at Hotel Schroeder, Milwaukee, Wis. An attendance of 500 is anticipated. Each club in the two states will be officially represented by two delegates.

District officers to be installed in impressive ceremonies by Harrison U. Wood, Racine, past International vice president, are: Earl C. Knutson, Westby, governor; John J. Allen, Racine, treasurer; Glenn M. Harrison, Wausau, secretary; Frank J. Horak, Oconto, past governor, and 15 lieutenant governors as follows: Lewis B. Sanders, Racine; Herbert Ainsworth, Monroe; Lyman L. Hunt, Darlington; Byron E. Schwartzburg, Milwaukee; Kenneth Horn, Mukwonago; Harry Stel, Markesan; Harry B. Radlund, Wisconsin Dells; Keith S. Truesdale, Highland Center; Harvey V. Higley, Marinette; Frank A. Kavanagh, Antigo; Leo Haas, Eau Claire; Frank B. Pail, Marquette, Mich.; Martin Kopnick, Ironwood, Mich.; and Rodney Young, Ladysmith.

Plans for 1951 will be formulated including the district convention slated for August. Invitations have been extended by Escanaba, Mich. and LaCrosse, Wis.

The entire program will carry out the theme of Kiwanis for 1951, namely, "Freedom is NOT Free."

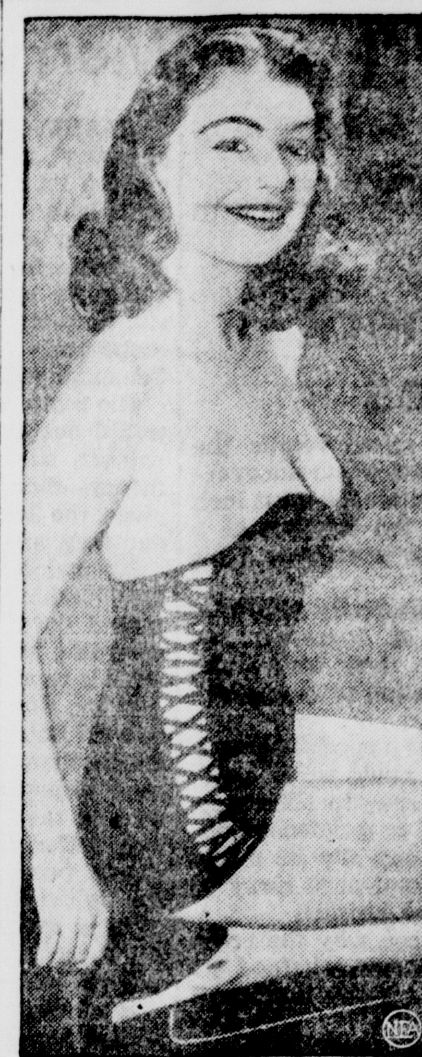

Walter Dickson and Dr. Rudolph Erickson, president and vice president of the Escanaba Kiwanis club, will leave Sunday to attend the Milwaukee meeting.

Phillip Miron Is

Recalled For Duty

Phillip A. Miron, Ford River road, a member of the army organized reserve, has left for Fort Sheridan, Ill., for processing. He was recalled to active duty Jan. 2 and will return here about Jan. 8 to serve in the Escanaba induction center.

Chester Isaacson, 630 South 14th street, who was scheduled to report for active army duty this month has been deferred until July 4.

Lessons To Be Given At Park

Figure skating lessons will be given in Escanaba at Royce Park beginning Friday under auspices of the Escanaba Recreation department.

Howard Dufour will instruct at the park from 5 to 8 p. m., Friday evenings and from 1 to 3 p. m., on Saturdays.

Children in the elementary grades can receive instruction in beginning figures, proper use of edges and general help on Fridays. Students of junior and senior high school age and adults will be taught on Saturday afternoons.

Beginning figures, use of edges, positions for better balance, and ice dancing will be taught those attending Saturday classes.

This marks the second year figure skating lessons have been offered by the recreation department.

Committee Is Needed To Check On Big Defense Expenditures

IT'S being proposed that Congress create a committee paralleling the famed Truman Senate War Investigating committee which saved American taxpayers many millions of dollars during and after World War II.

True enough, we are not now at war. But we are appropriating record peacetime sums for defense. Responsible leaders believe we must keep a close check on how that money is spent. They argue that past experience demonstrates that fraud and waste are otherwise unavoidable.

No standing committees and no existing special committees in Congress now perform that function. Nor do any have the time, the staff or the money to do the job.

In the special field, the nearest thing to that kind of group is the Senate Johnson committee. Its task, however, is to keep a weather eye on the country's preparedness effort and speak out whenever it discerns a dangerous lag.

The regular House and Senate appropriations committee may manage some investigation into expenditures as part of their job of voting funds. But essentially they must concern themselves with plans for new outlays rather than with what has happened to older ones.

Because money wisely and honestly spent on defense contracts is translated into badly needed tanks and guns and planes, the careful policing of arms spending is plainly a matter calling for a statesmanlike, non-political approach.

As the plan is now being considered, that objective seems clearly in view. Senator Ferguson, Michigan Republican who played a key role in the old Truman committee, is suggesting a 10-member group evenly divided between the major parties. Should the House set up its own group or take part in a joint committee, a similar division is a strong possibility.

Recruiters Of All Services Are Busy

YOUNG men in the Escanaba area can once again take their pick of the armed forces—army, air force, navy or marines—as all four of the services have announced unlimited quotas and have set up recruiting offices here. It is indicative of the nation's rearmament program to prepare for any eventuality in this period of national emergency.

With the apparent speed up in the draft—Delta county's draft quota for February is 40 men—it appears likely that most young men in the draft age will be called for service. At least all physically fit single men in the 19-26 age group can anticipate a summons for military service within the next year or so. And there are definite evidences that the draft age will be lowered to 18-year-olds, as in World War II, to meet the nation's military needs.

The army and air force have a full time recruiting office in Escanaba and the navy and marines have visiting recruiters making regular weekly or bi-weekly visits here for applicants.

Young men seeking to make their choice of services, however, must do so before receiving their call for preinduction physical examinations under the selective service system. After that, it is too late to enlist.

New U. S. Law Hits At One-Arm Bandits

A new federal law signed by President Truman this week takes a hefty poke at slot machines and other gambling devices that are contributing billions of dollars yearly to crime gangs. The new law prohibits the shipment of slot machines and related gambling machines across state lines.

States that prohibit the use of slot machines—including Michigan—thus are fortified with an effective federal law as a new weapon in their fight against crime. Exceptions are provided under law for states which pass specific legislation to exempt themselves from the interstate ban, such as Nevada which legalizes virtually all types of gambling.

A racket that yields the terrific profits of the slot machines will not be eliminated merely by the enactment of this new federal law. The racketeers exist primarily because of their bribery of law enforcement officers and the new law will not stop this. However, cities and states that econsciously desire to plug an ugly source of crime revenue will find the new federal statute a strong weapon at their command. Also, it gives federal officers the right to move in on racketeers in areas where bribed local officials turn their eyes away from organized crime.

State Pride

By Gordon Martin

As a nation we're united in a democratic way, and in Washington, each state enjoys the right to have its say. Both in peace and war we always quickly join to bear the brunt, and there's never any doubt about our great united front. But amongst ourselves we carry on a series of debates, on the glories and the wonders of our ever-bragging states.

From Atlantic to Pacific, from the borders north and south, we're so proud of our states we're always shooting off our mouth. Doesn't matter where we come from, we're the biggest and the best, and we're quick to shout it loud and long while sticking out our chest. Got the most of all the minerals, the wealth of field and farm, got the factories and commerce and a climate full of charm.

Sure, a state may claim the best of this, or maybe most of that, and the prettiest of women, you can darn sure bet your hat. And sometimes the world may think among ourselves we like to fight, but they quickly learn the forty-eight can readily unite. So, thank God, our statehood fussin' is an intramural brawl, and if those outside would choose us, then they've got to whip us all.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round And Let's All Remember It

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It looks as if the "man of letters" in the White House is going to make a lot of money for the recipients of those letters.

Out in Denver, Dr. Neal Bishop, who suggested to Mr. Truman that John L. Lewis be appointed ambassador to Russia, is going to auction off his Trumanesque reply for the benefit of the Denver Community Chest.

The reply, which stated that he, Truman, would not even appoint John L. as dogcatcher, should bring a large amount of money—though Bishop has generously given the letter to the Community Chest and they will make the profit.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Paul Hume, the Washington Post music critic, has turned down various offers for his letter regarding Margaret Truman's singing. One offer is reputed in five figures.

If Mr. Hume ever does decide to sell this coveted letter, it can make him much more dough than he realizes, for he will only have to pay a capital gains tax of 25 percent on the sale. In other words, the Truman letter is not earned income, but a special personal gift from the president of the United States. A gift is not taxable until it is sold, and as long as Mr. Hume keeps the letter more than six months, his tax will be only 25 percent.

If treasury agents argue about this, Mr. Hume can tell them quite truthfully that his letter is something which happens only once in a lifetime, that it was an unsolicited gift from the president, and that if any gift is paid it should come out of Harry Truman's pocket, not his.

Other people who got indignant letters from the president can also cash in on this nice low-bracket tax. In brief, the president has been awfully kind to Mr. Hume, to Bernie Baruch, to Dr. Bishop, to Jimmie Byrnes and others. The only one he has slighted is me. Because when he hurled the "Servant of Brotherhood" charge in my direction, he did it orally. He did not write a letter.

Someday, if I can get up nerve enough, I am going to ask Mr. Truman to put it in writing, so I can have something either to hand down to my children or else sell under a capital gains tax. Having been the first to arouse public presidential ire, I think the president owes it to me to put it in writing.

Note—Anyone who wants to bid on the Truman letter black-balling John L. Lewis as dogcatcher can wire the Denver Press club.

NEW ORDER OF DRAFT

Selective Service Director Lewis Hershey is recommending the following changes in the draft law to the new session of Congress:

1. That the draft age be lowered from 19 to 18 years, with the maximum age limit kept at 25.
2. That deferment of enlistees in the organized reserves and the National Guard be stopped.
3. That draft eligibles between 18 and 25 be taken in the following order: First, all unmarried college students except the top third in their classes; second, married non-vets without children; third, unmarried veterans; last, non-vets with children.

INCREASE LIVING COST

One thing that has stumped price czars Alan Valentine and Mike Di Salle is that they cannot impose over-all price controls on certain farm products until the cost of living goes up even more.

This is because the farm bloc in Congress inserted a provision in the price control bill whereby certain farm prices cannot be controlled at a point under parity or under the price of last May and June.

Because of this, the agriculture department has advised the big bakers and millers that they face no early price control. Bread will have to increase one or two cents a loaf to permit price controls, Ralph Trigg, the department's production and marketing boss, privately informed bakers and millers last week.

ANOTHER LOST CAUSE GOES OUT THE WINDOW

Ladies, you win! I hereby publicly acknowledge the folly of trying to intrude a man's opinion about the pronunciation of what I shall now call "lady-words," for want of a better term. What I am getting at is this:

For many years I have pointed out to my feminine readers the "incorrectness" of saying moe-RAY for the noun moire. "The fabric should be called mwahr," I said again and again. I might as well have been trying to broadcast through a dead microphone.

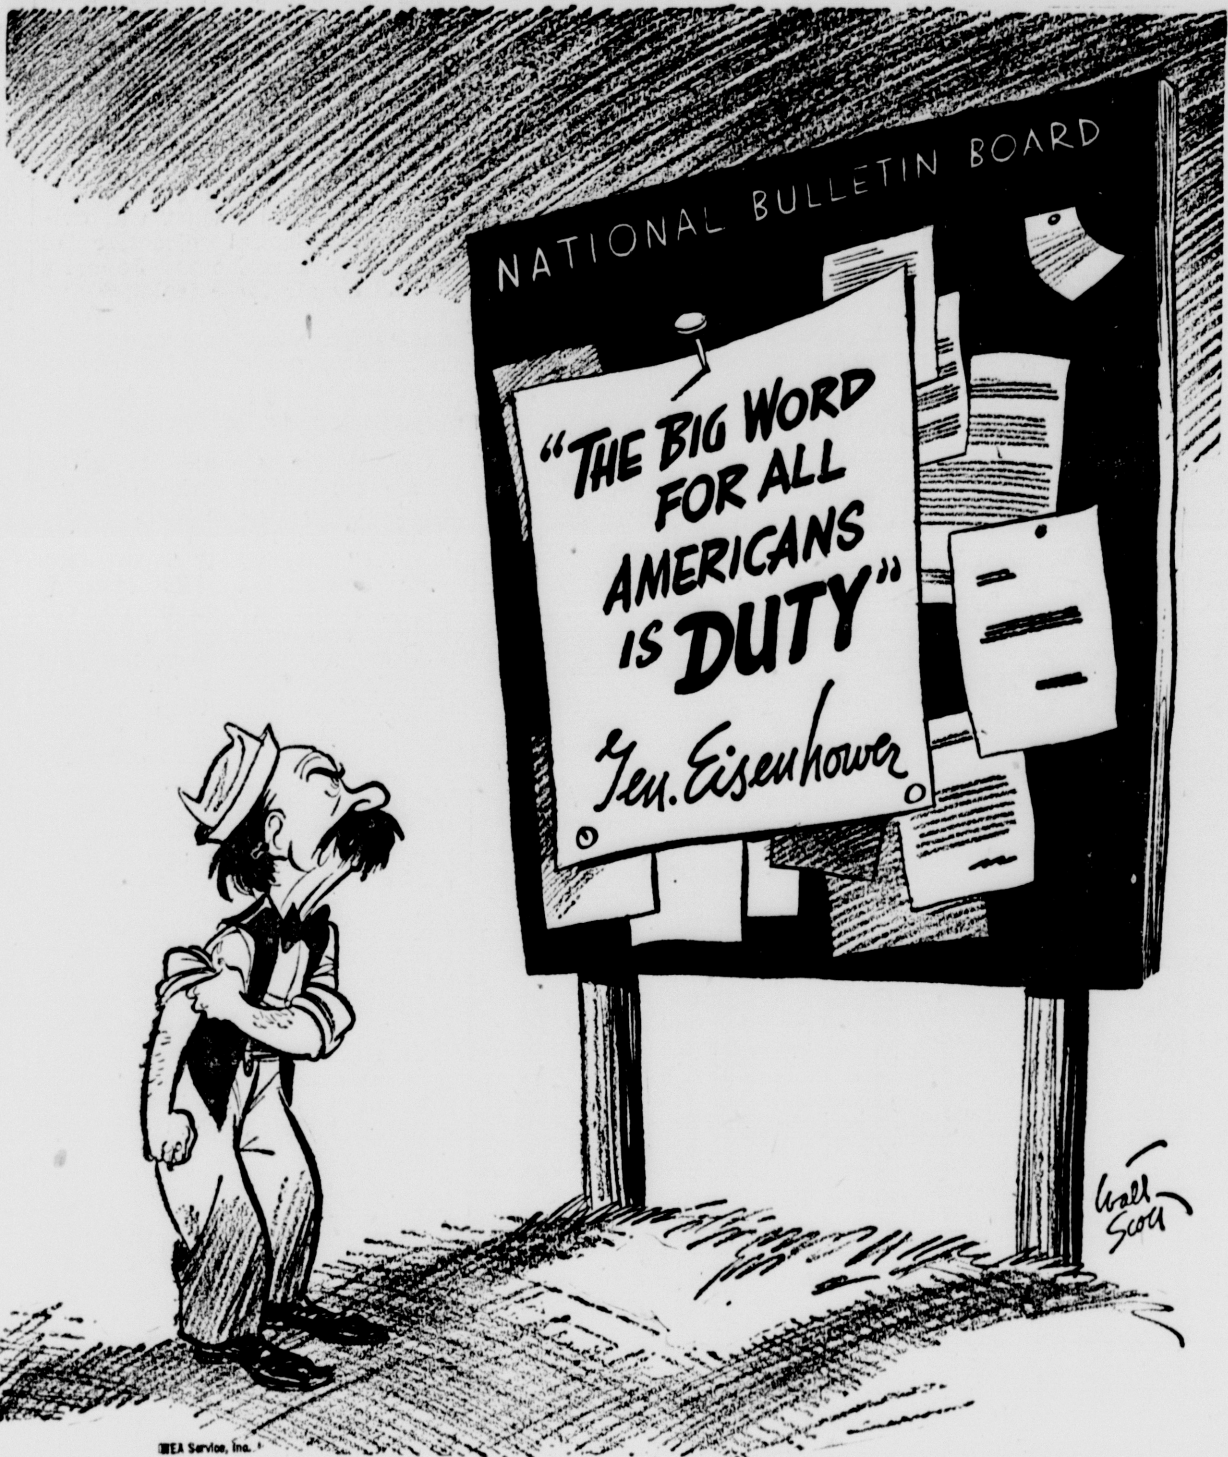

My dear feminine clients would read my articles, laugh prettily, and say, "Mwahr, indeed; Isn't that just like a man?" There is only one possible answer to a question like that, "Yep, that's just like a man."

So from now on, in this column, and in my dictionary, the Standard American lady-pronunciation moe-RAY, for both noun and adjective, will be given.

About three years ago this column renounced another lost cause—that of trying to persuade feminine readers to pronounce the word faille like the word fall, which is the dictionary pronunciation. Naturally, the dear ladies paid no attention at all to my advice that they ought to say "fail" instead of "file."

They wrote me bales of letters which laughed at me prettily and said, "Fail, indeed. Isn't that just like a man?" So I reversed my field, as the football announcers say, and began to recommend "file" as the Standard American pronunciation. Later, two well-known dictionaries—Webster's New Collegiate (1949), and the American College Dictionary (1949)—followed suit. Webster's Collegiate lists "file" as second choice, and the American College Dictionary lists "file" as first choice.

Congress Page Boys Play Big Part In Making Legislative Wheels Spin

By FLORENCE JANSSON

With the new Congress now in session, busy and eventful days are here for a group of boys who consider themselves, and with good reason, to be among the luckiest youngsters in all the world.

These are the page boys of Congress who, swiftly and unobtrusively, run a thousand and one errands for members of Congress and play their own important part in making the legislative wheels go 'round. And while doing so they watch history being made; go to a unique school in the Capitol building itself; get to know closeup the men and women whose names are familiar to newspaper readers throughout the land; and acquire a background which sometimes brings them back to Washington in later life to serve again in those historic halls.

At the snap of a finger they are there, the Senate page boys, ready for whatever errands are required, filling inkwells, bringing in lately drafted bills that touch your destiny and mine, checking the ancients' snuff boxes placed around the chamber—anything and everything.

Spick and span, they sit, bellhop fashion, on the rostrum steps, ready for summons. That is no place to daydream, for one can never tell when a senatorial snap of the fingers will sound out through the din of debate. And that means business, fast.

Up jumps the end page and off he goes on the speedy accomplishment of his errand. The others move one place up, the first alerted for action, and the others paying attention, too.

Ready for Call

The House of Representatives has its corps of pages also, with rules and duties similar to those of the Senate, yet different enough to make them a distinct group in the Capitol hierarchy in the two chambers. They are set off as a separate body, but none of their differences cramp the hearty spirit of fraternity between the two groups. They do not sit at the feet of the great so literally as their Senate colleagues, but wait on benches at the back of the chamber until a buzz from some grunter, with an accompanying signal light, brings them forward on the double-quick.

At a recent session the Senate pages, by special permission, gave up their traditional blue knickerbocker suits and long black stockings, and now wear long trousers as the House pages have done for some years. The short-pants tradition clung in the Senate with the tenacity of many a other ancient custom; and it took several years' crusading to bring about the action which finally has enabled them to get a new look.

The Capitol page system has become an institution almost as fixed as Congress itself. It began, cautiously, with the appointment of a nine-year-old boy, Grafton Hanson, back in 1829. The lawmakers found themselves doing too much leg work, so there dawned the idea of having a boy on hand to fetch and carry. Young Hanson proved the soundness of the idea and became the sturdy roots of the system.

Since there are not as many pages, by a long shot, as there are members of Senate and House, members win the right to appoint pages as a result of seniority. As the political complexion of Congress changes so does the proportion of pages named by Republican and Democratic members.

Now that the Democrats have a majority on both sides of the Capitol their appointments to the page staff likewise are in the majority.

Little Mischief

So unaltered are traditions that a new appointee, learning the routine of his tasks, may have a curious sense of looking fullface into past centuries which before have existed for him only in books. Soon, however, he gets to take this stride along with the great present day events that come out of the time-hallowed setting. Indeed, the lads themselves have been the subject of several pieces of legislation and, in further token of their full-fledged status, have borne up under the scrutiny of congressional inquiries.

Measured against the thousands who have served over the period since inauguration of the system, instances of serious mischief have been remarkably rare. That is not to say the youngsters are lacking in a healthy spirit of fun and frolic, or innocent of occasional minor infractions of the rules. "Boys will be boys," even under the Capitol dome, so monitors have their place, and disciplinary measures are a familiar part of the routine. Among the most common of these is the penalty of "Nights," corresponding to the old, familiar custom of keeping a culprit after school. The tardy arrival or momentarily careless lad may not have to write anything twenty times on the blackboard while his colleagues whoop it up off-duty freedom on the outside, but he will find plenty of littered desks to put in order—and he'd better make a first class job of it.

Pages in both chambers are at the very center of history-making activities. Not only are they there for messenger service; they are gaining an invaluable firsthand education from their intimate view of politics in action. Much of what they see and hear ties in with their formal course of study.

For they go to school, too. Ranges must meet educational requirements comparable to those of other youngsters of the same age group.

Backed by a smart yearbook bearing the proud name, Congressional achievement, and a hearty spirit of "hail-to-good-old-C.P.S.," the unique school has taken on some fine markings of a venerable Alma Mater.

School hours are adapted to working time so the pages can lead a sort of double life without slighting work or study. Three-hour sessions may begin as early as 6:30 a. m. for some; for others at 7:15 or 8:00 a. m., depending on particular hours of page duty to be done. With classes in a suite of rooms in the Capitol, the walk from school to work is a matter of only a minute or two.

The Capitol Page School now is a unit of the D. C. public school system.

Do not think that the page boy's day is done when he has had a session in school and finished his round of duties. There must be some playtime, too, and this he seizes with all the zest of any normal, healthy youngster.

What does he play? Many things; pranks sometimes. A mock session of Congress can be whipped up at the snap of a finger and with a remarkable show of legislative procedure. In no time at all, without a single dissenting vote, the budding statesmen may pass measures for increasing their own salaries, reducing their hours of toil, or granting a holiday from school. A newcomer to the ranks may find his first days taken up with futile searches for the mythical Senator: Sorghum, determined efforts to secure some striped ink, or other traditional pursuits.

Numerous clubs and fraternities have been organized. One, currently prominent, is the Explorer's club, a tight little organization limited to a select membership of seven. Its purpose is to explore the little-known or secret passages, stairs, and nooks of the Capitol.

With a salary of about $225 a month, the youngsters are initiated into the adult world of budgets and other financial complexities while they are still in school. Taxes, room rent, board, laundry, clothes, and other incidentals all take their toll.

Since the boys go to Washington from all parts of the country, it follows that many live away from their parents. Some find homes with relatives and friends and some must undertake the difficult task of finding places for themselves. At least one page dormitory has come into being in response to the specialized demand. Here the multiple energies of a whole household of boys find leisure time release, with never a dull moment for the manager.

There are some illustrious examples of ex-page statesmen, but the "alumni" do not appear to have any single or preponderant leaning. The Army and the Navy have drawn considerably on the roster of ex-pages for officers, a consequence of the fact that the Capitol page has served in numerically increasing as a springboard to West Point or Annapolis.

The position of Capitol page boy is one of the most exclusive vocations in the country since only 21 are required in the Senate and 49 in the House.

Alert youngsters, serving the same lawmakers day after day, soon come to know the particular likes and dislikes of their employers, to discern the peculiarities, to "get the feel" of the legislative atmosphere. There is the opportunity to serve at the very source of the country's legislative pattern.

It's a rare boy, indeed, who doesn't appreciate the remarkable privilege which is his in a job which in most respects is unique.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

PAYING IT BACK — The backers of Gov. G. Mennen Williams who placed bets on his reelection had the last laugh in this and other communities in the state.

The story is told of the Escanaba man, no doubt Republican, who bet quite a bit of money that Harry F. Kelly would defeat Williams. First unofficial reports following the election gave the victory to Kelly, as you may recall, and the Escanaba man went around collecting his bets.

Then the tide turned and Williams held the final narrow margin. The Kelly backer held the money, telling his Democratic friends they would have to wait until the recount was completed. So sure was he of the outcome that he spent the money for Christmas gifts.

Came the end of the recount and the rude awakening. Williams was the victor—and the money had to be repaid to the Williams' backers. Our Republican friend, twice disappointed, found it hard to divvy up from meager reserves after the shopping spree.

THE GOOD CAUSE — The payment of another bet in connection with the election went to a good cause—and may set a pattern for bets at election time in the future.

John Greene, First National Bank cashier, wagered with Atty. Wheaton Strom that the recount of votes in the Escanaba first precinct would not result in an increase of votes for Williams. It was agreed that the loser would make his check payable to the Escanaba Rotary club crippled children's fund.

Greene lost but the crippled children won.

SNOW ROBINS—There must be a special breed of robin in the Escanaba area this winter, considering the number of robins reported seen in this vicinity.

The latest report is from C. R. Henderson of 912 Seventh avenue south. A flock of 16 robins came to the back yard of the Henderson home Tuesday afternoon and fed on berries from the mountain ash tree.

But where do they roost at night? And why are they staying in the north this winter?

"The mountain ash berries are frozen," Henderson reported. "All at once the flock was gone—I hope south," he added.

STILL AROUND—The following morning, Wednesday, the robins were still in Escanaba, however, for they were observed in the yard at the Richard O. Flath residence, 504 South Fifth street, which is only a few blocks distant from the Hendersons.

It was suggested that B. F. "Bernie" Schultz, Daily Press photo-engraver, get a picture of the robins in the snow. But after a recent experience trailing birds in the snow, Bernie decided against it. For he had made several trips to Ludington Park last week in an unsuccessful effort to obtain photographs of a flock of Hungarian partridge, believed to be the remnant of a flock released at Stonington by the state three years ago.

The Hungarian partridge or "Hunkies" as the sportsmen call them are still seen from time to time at the park. Could mean we are going to have an open winter, with little snow and mild weather.

MORE TO COME—Perhaps it is already too late for an "open winter" in Northern Michigan.

There are still several months to go, however, before the winter ends. This could result in an early spring. Put to think of spring before mid-January is like planning a winter in Miami on a day laborer's income—both dreams that are rarely accomplished.

Either the late-staying robins have inside knowledge on the weather future or they have lost their compass.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Charles M. Ward of Nahma and Raymond C. Boyle of 318 South 18th street, who recently completed basic training at Great Lakes Naval station, left yesterday to board the U. S. S. New York at Portsmouth, Va.

Rapid River — Mrs. Rubin Nelson and children have left for Buffalo, N. Y., to join Mr. Nelson, who is employed in construction work at the Curtiss airplane factory.

Gladstone—E. W. Seger left last night for Washington, D. C., where he will spend three months with his son, Gordon.

Escanaba—Bevier Butts is among four Michigan men appointed as deputy softball commissioners to serve under Seth Whitmore of Lansing.

20 YEARS AGO

Lansing — Richard W. Nebel, who has served as commissioner of pardons and paroles for the past six months, returned to Munising today to resume his duties as probate judge.

Escanaba—Announcement has been received of the coming ordination of Malcolm O. Langley, formerly of Escanaba, as a deacon in the Episcopal church. He is now a lay assistant at St. Chrysostom's church in Chicago, where the ceremony will take place Jan. 11.

St. Ignace—A small section of wood unearthed within the last six months is being preserved here by the Rev. Fr. J. T. Holland, as an authentic relic of Father Marquette. The wood, Father Holland believes, is a portion of a cedar post which was used as a prop to the chapel the great explorer and missionary built here in 1671 for conversion of the Indians. The chapel was burned in 1706 when Cadillac, who had quarreled with the Jesuits, induced their primitive charges to join him in Detroit.

U. S. Carbines Aid British In Malaya

SINGAPORE — (AP) — British troops and security forces are using American carbines in their jungle war against Communists in Malaya.

The British bought the arms in the United States in a cash deal, but more substantial military aid may soon be forthcoming if the United States grants a British appeal for $5,000,000 to buy equipment. British officers regard the American carbines as an "A-1 weapon" in the battle against terrorists.

The automatic carbines are equipped with magazines of 15 or 30 rounds of 30 calibre bullets. In addition to lightness, the barrels of the carbines are short—a decided asset for soldiers and police who often have to hack their way into jungle lairs of Communists.

THE SKINNER CHIEF SAYS:

"HERE'S A FAST EASY WINTER PARTY DISH"

...SERVE SKINNER'S SPAGHETTI RAREBIT

The Ingredients You Need
7 oz. SKINNER'S Long Spaghetti (Or SKINNER'S Short Cut Spaghetti)
1 1/2 tbsp. butter 3/4 cup sharp
1 1/2 tbsp. flour American cheese
1/4 tsp. salt 1 tsp. catsup
1 cup milk 1 tsp. Worcestershire
2 eggs, well beaten shire sauce

PREPARE THIS EASY WAY
To 2 quarts boiling water, add 1 tbsp. salt. Add spaghetti gradually, curling it around in kettle as it softens. Cook uncovered at rapid boil 10 to 15 minutes, or until tender when cut with fork against side of kettle. Drain, do not rinse. In sauce pan, heat butter until it bubbles. Blend in flour, add salt. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook over low heat until smooth and thickened. Add cheese, stirring until melted. Add eggs, catsup, Worcestershire sauce. Cook 4 minutes more, stirring constantly. Pour over Spaghetti. Serves 6.

SERVE WITH
Tossed Green Salad Assorted Wafers
Coffee Fruit Plate
Belongs on your table twice a week

Tom Dufour Dies Of Heart Attack

Rites For Well Known Salesman Monday

Thomas J. Dufour, 57, of 406 South 12th street, widely known Upper Peninsula sales representative, died at 10:25 this morning at St. Francis hospital. He was admitted to the hospital Tuesday evening after suffering a heart attack.

THOMAS J. DUFOUR

Iron River Will Celebrate Iron Ore Discovery

IRON RIVER—Plans for a celebration marking the 100th anniversary of the discovery of iron ore in the Iron River district were approved unanimously by the Iron River Business Men's association last night.

Gene Moore, new president of the association, named a committee composed of James Harris, Jake Schindler, Peter Phillips, Howard Hoot, Marvin Westerlund and Evaldo Contardi to map preliminary plans.

In broadening the centennial event, which, if plans materialize, will be the biggest celebration ever held in the area, Moore said that he felt the discovery of ore here in 1851 by Harvey Mellon, U. S. surveyor, should be duly commemorated by some sort of public recognition.

Avalanche Kills 22, Injures 70 In Peru; More Bodies Sought

LIMA, Peru — (AP) — A total of 102 persons today were reported killed in a dynamite-started Andes Mountain avalanche near the coastal town of Chimbote.

Confirmed reports said the bodies of 80 persons had been recovered from the tomb of rocks and mud of Condor Hill, with 71 persons known injured.

The newspaper El Comercio said later that the death toll had reached 102.

It was the second catastrophe to strike the rich coal mining area in two and-a-half months. A natural avalanche killed 20 persons and did tremendous property damage in the same sector last Oct. 20.

Loss Over 10 Million As Wind Whips Fire At Evansville, Ind.

EVANSVILLE, Indiana — (AP) — Fire swept by a stiff wind roared through eight buildings in the center of the business district early today. Damage was estimated by Fire Chief Clarence Bassmer at more than $10,000,000.

Three firemen were burned slightly. Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

The fire started in the Economy drug store about 1:30 a. m. (C. S. T.) and spread to the big Walgreen drug store, the Evansville Federal Savings and Loan building, a shoe store and a women's clothing store. It raged out of control for four hours before firemen got the upper hand.

The flames jumped across main street and gutted the big Hoffman's department store, a jewelry company and a shoe store.

Several other buildings were damaged by water, smoke and heat.

Briefly Told

The Misses Helen Gunkel and Marguerite Roberge returned last night from Chicago where they spent four days with friends. While there they attended the Sonja Henie ice show.

Chicago Prices

CHICAGO BUTTER—(P)—B butter, firm; receipts 260,243; wholesale selling prices: Creamery, 1 lb. cwt., 32 A, 71 B, 70; C, 69; 80 C, 68 1/2; cars: 90 B, 71; 89 B, 69 1/2.

CHICAGO EGGS—(P)—Eggs, steady; receipts 14,000; wholesale selling prices: Standard, 1 dozen, 32; extra, 30; C, 28; extras, 48 to 50; U. S. mediums, 40 to 46; U. S. standards, 44; current receipts—dirty, 30; fresh, 32.

CHICAGO POTATOES—(P)—(USDA): Potatoes: rivals 56, on track 155; total U. S. shipments 61 1/2; supplies light; demand moderate. Firm. Prices: 100 lb. cwt., $10.10, bulk, $3.60, utilities $2.35; Minnesota-North Dakota Red River valley red Pontiacs, $2.90 to $2.75ashed.

CHICAGO GRAIN—(P)—Chicago a hub of buying—the start sent grain prices rolling higher on the Board of Trade today. The opening grain market was firm, and the people who owned in subsequent trading, however. Commission houses were aggressive in initial dealings. All corn, soybeans, and rye deliveries shot up to seasonal peaks. Also at new highs were the prices of wheat and May 4 September oats.

The early gains brought out substantial profit-taking. Grains have had a roller coaster ride recently. Traders said, and therefore were meeting profit-taking sales even though not all the people seemed inclined to take a new position on the short side of the market.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/2 to one cent higher, March 47 1/2; corn was 1/4 to 3/4 higher, March 61 1/2, 73 1/2, and oats were unchanged, 1 1/2. Higher, March 50 1/2. Soybeans were 3/4 to one cent higher, January $2 1/2, and lard was 12 to 18 cents a hundred pounds higher, January $18 20.

Everything In Russia Geared To War Effort

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON — (AP)—Everything in Russia—down through farm horses and tractors and up through all the 212,000,000 people —is fitted into the war mobilization blueprint of the Soviet Union.

An official American military publication—the Army Information Digest—says Russia “has geared its entire military and civil structure for rapid mobilization, whether it be open or secret, general or partial mobilization.”

Army of 3 Million
(At present, Russia is estimated to have an armed force strength of about 4,500,000. This compares with an estimated peak strength of about 12,500,000 during World War II. Of her present strength, more than 3,000,- 000 may be in the army.)

The Army Information Digest is published to familiarize American officers and enlisted men with plans, policies and happenings in the American army—and in other nations, friendly and unfriendly.

In its current issue, the Digest discusses the military service and training program of the Soviet Union. Among other things, it says:

No other country has such an intensive, all-inclusive program for military training. “The average Soviet citizen lives his entire life in an atmosphere of military semi-alert.” Small children in school learn early such phrases as “front,” “offensive” and “objective.” The Russian Pioneer, who in a peaceful land would be a boy scout, is taught rifle marksmanship and anti-tank tactics.

Exempt Over 50
All males who reach their 19th birthday are subject to conscription. Only men over 50 or those physically unfit are exempt from military service. Even when over 50, a man may be recalled for emergency duty in home defense

Memorial Service At Faithorn For Cpl. Warren Kelly

HERMANSVILLE — Memorial services for Cpl. Warren S. Kelly, 22, Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly, Faithorn, who was killed in Korea and was Menominee County's first Korean fatality, were conducted by the Rev.
Fr. Lester A. Bourgeois of Na-deau, who beginning at 9 Saturday morning, offered a requiem mass in St. Mary's church, Faithorn.
The young Marine was wounded in September and then returned to duty.

The choir sang the responses to the mass. The church was full to its capacity.

A catafalque, placed at the chancel gates, was draped with an American flag placed under a Marine's hat.

Memorial services were under the supervision of the Leo Floriano Post 340 of the American Legion with Frank J. Rodman, commander. Some 30 members of the
Leo Floriano and the Norvulet
VFW Post of Norway, conducted their service for the dead at the close of the mass. Commander
Rodman read the Legion prayers while Fred Geldemeyer read the VFW prayers. At the conclusion of the Legion services, the flag over the catafalque was folded and presented to the young Marine's parents.

The Legion under the direction of John Maga fired a three-gun salute on the church grounds and Harold Meiner of Faithorn sounded taps.

Mount Rainier, Wash., now 14-408 feet high, once was 16,000 feet in height, before volcanic activity blew off the top.

Singapore Attempts Red Mass Marriages

SINGAPORE — (AP)—The surge of Communist culture which followed the conquest of China has hit Malaya's Chinese full force. Its biggest success has been in vitiating the Chinese marriage.

Scores of Chinese couples from all parts of Malaysia have collected in Singapore to be married in the mass marriage ceremonies sponsored by the colony's most active pro-Communist organization the Mayfair Musical and Dramatic Association. The mass marriage has eliminated all the solemnity and done away with all the tradition of the old Chinese marriage whether performed in temple, at home or in church.

SMILING MRS. JOSEPH WOS is pictured here at St. Francis hospital with her twin daughters, born to her, unattended, in her farm home at Hyde while her husband was struggling to get a car in operation to take her to the hospital. Equally happy over the twins who are premature but perfect babies is Sister M. Eleanor, supervisor of the obstetrics department of the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Wos, DPs, expected their family the last of February and were totally unprepared for the arrival of the stark last Friday (Escanaba Daily Press Photo)

Lake Superior Region's Iron Mining Reviewed

Though the Cuyuna range was in its 39th year of operation, the Gogebic range in its 66th year, the Mesabi marked its 58th year and the Marquette observed its 100th year, the mining activities in the Lake Superior region in this past year were focused on the challenges ahead rather than backward on the years of accomplishments behind them.

One of the forward looking events of this past year on the Mesabi was the reopening of the St. James mine at Aurora, Minn., which will bring added activity to the eastern Mesabi range. Inactive since 1924, the St. James mine is being reopened by Oglebay, Norton & Co., manager for the St. James Mining Co. Open pit development was actively underway about September and a shop, office building and seven houses were planned for the site. Stripping operations will continue during the current winter season.

Pickands Mather & Co., operating agent for the Utica Mining Co., made plans for the commencement of stripping operations at the Carmi-Carson Lake property west of Hibbing, Minn., on the Mesabi range. A mine office building, shop and truck garage were built at the site during the year. Another Pickands Mather project was the installation of a belt conveyor at the Danube iron mine at Boyevy, Minn. The belt is designed to transport about 900 long tons of iron ore per hour. On the Menominee iron range of Michigan, Pickands Mather & Co. was at work developing the Berkshire shaft at Caspian, Mich., as a future central hoisting unit to handle iron ore mined from the adjacent Duck group, which includes the Baltic, Fogarty and Berkshire properties. Also the Berkshire surface plant is being rehabilitated.

On the Marquette range of Michigan the Jones and Laughlin Co. started shaft sinking operations at the new Tracy iron mine at Negaunee, Mich. For the last ten years J. & L. has been carrying on a diamond drilling exploration program on these lands, and the Tracy will be the first major mining operation of J. & L. on the Marquette range in about 30 years. All of the company's ore bodies in the Negaunee area will be mined through the Tracy shaft. With initial plans for the shaft to be about 1,600 feet deep, the beginning rate of production is scheduled for a million tons a year and further mining is expected to extend the shaft to the 2,500 ft. mark.

The Oliver Iron Mining Co. also announced plans to open a new mine on the Mesabi—the King mine, west of Coleraine, Minn. When stripping operations are completed, the ore of the King mine, low in iron and high in silica, will be beneficiated at the Trout Lake concentrating plant of Oliver.

On the Menominee range the Inland Steel Co. leased Oliver Iron Mining Co.'s Youngstown mine at Crystal Falls, Mich. The Youngstown mine, adjoining the Bristol mine of Inland, has been in process of being dewatered and prepared for operations during the past two years and now is one of the producing mines of the 1950 season.

One of the important development operations on the Mesabi this past year was the start of stripping at the Morton iron mine by the Morton Ore Co., the M. A. Hanna Co., agent. When last operated, in 1917 by the Tod-Stambaugh Co., it was an underground operation of which the steel headframe, long a landmark in the Hibbing district, was removed early this year. The dragline and loading hopper which had been used to strip the South Arnew mine is being used at the Morton and a three-year development program is planned in order to attain the ultimate objective.

Another underground mine of the Mesabi range that is being converted to open pit is the Schley iron mine at Gilbert, Minn., where skip hoisting system of ore production is planned. The Schley mine is to be a future source of iron ore for the Inter-State Iron Co. A new screening and washing plant is to be installed and, according to plans, the Schley mine will be ready for the opening of the ore shipping season in 1951.

Other Mesabi mines readied for stripping operations this year were the Pilot Annex property of the W. S. Moore Co., and the Knox and Iron Ore Reserve properties. The latter is the most easterly activity current on the Mesabi range.

Drilling Projects Underway
This past fall Inland Steel Co. took an option to explore two forty-acre tracts of land east of Crystal Falls, Mich., on the Menominee range. Development also was expected to start at the Longyear Lake Mining Unit No. 1 at Chisholm, Minn., on the Mesabi, with a prospecting permit issued to David D. Haley, of Hibbing, Minn. The property is to be called the Haley mine. Drilling was also going on at the former site of the Meriden Iron Co. office at Hibbing, Minn., this year.

On the Canadian side of the Lake Superior region, the Steep Rock Iron Mines, Ltd., went forward with its plans for the development of its "A" orebody at Steep Rock Lake, Ont. Construction Aggregates Corp. of Chicago, Ill., was awarded a large contract for the removal of lake material from the "A" orebody. The Inland Steel Co. of Chicago, with iron ore mines in Minnesota and Michigan, made an agreement with Steep Rock Iron Mines, Ltd., whereby it had taken an option to lease a large development acreage, known as the "C" orebody of Steep Rock, located 120 miles west of Port Arthur, Ont. Early in this year Boyles Brothers Drilling Co. set up six drills to prove up iron ore tonnage of the "C" orebody for Inland Steel.

At another location in Ontario, the North Range Mining Co., Negaunee, Mich., conducted explorations on an iron ore property at Hematite, Ont., east of Aitkin, Ont. Two diamond drills were at work on this magnetite property and early this fall the core drilling program was completed with a substantial tonnage of high sulphur ore developed.

In addition, a Bureau of Mines drilling project was underway in manganese-bearing ore on the Cuyuna range, between Crow Wing and Aitkin counties, in an effort to determine reserves of ore containing 1 per cent to 15 per cent manganese. Another Bureau of Mines drilling project was underway this year southeast of Aitkin, Minn., to determine tonnages of pyrrhotite or iron-sulphide.

A further indication of the future of the iron range activities is the new industry established this year at Marble, Minn., known as the Rhude Media Co., which grinds ferro-silicon pigs to size suitable for heavy density treatment processes used on the Mesabi.

Of interest to the Minnesota mining industry was the outlining by aeromagnetic survey of a possible potential additional iron ore formation over the Otter Tail and southeastern Becker counties in west-central Minnesota, as was announced last spring by Dr. G. M. Schwartz, University of Minnesota geology professor and director of the Minnesota Geological Survey. Yet another potential iron ore formation was outlined, as a result of a magnetic survey, in a wide belt extending some 30 miles in the northwest corner of Itasca county in north central Minnesota.

Cleveland-Cliffs Centennial Year
On the Marquette range, this year the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., which now produces about 85 per cent of the iron ore shipped from that range each year, observed its centennial year in iron ore mining. Impressive and gala ceremonies were held at Ishpeming, Mich., with the officials of Cleveland-Cliffs taking part with employees in the 100th year observance.

In September, 1950, Republic Steel Corp. and Arco Steel Corp., jointly acquired, in equal shares, 100 per cent ownership of the stock of Reserve Mining Co., which controls a vast deposit of magnetic taconite reserve at the eastern end of the Mesabi range in St. Louis county, Minn. Previously Arco Steel Corp., Wheeling Steel Corp., Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. and Montreal Mining Co. held interests in the property. Long range development plans at the Reserve property provide an annual capacity of 10,000,000 tons of high grade iron ore. Oglebay, Norton & Co. is continuing to manage the property for the Reserve Mining Co.

Expanded Power Facilities
With the many plans for expanded facilities and production in the Lake Superior district, power companies of the region were anticipating the need for more power in the mining industry on the various ranges. On the eastern end of the Mesabi, the Minnesota Power & Light Co. has authorized the construction of a new steam-electric station on North Parkside Lake, east of Aurora, Minn. The plant will be rated at 12,000 h. p. and is scheduled for operation in 1953. On the Gogebic range the Lake Superior District Power Co. at Ashland, Wis., announced plans to install a new power line of 38,000 volts from Ashland to Ironwood, Mich., to replace the 66,000 volt line serving the Gogebic range. The Minnesota Power & Light Co. also completed a 110,000 volt transmission line to the Cuyuna range which made another source of power available to the Cuyuna range and provided still further support for the Mesabi range.

This year, also, the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. was at work replacing existing aluminum power line with copper, an improvement affecting underground iron ore mines at Mineral Hills, on the north side of the community of Iron River, Mich., on the Menominee iron range.

bearing material on the Mesabi, a number of mining companies installed facilities for lean ore beneficiation and announced extensive long range plans for development of low grade reserves. The Oliver Iron Mining Co. began construction of an agglomerating plant for taconite and fine ores, the first combination sintering and agglomerating plant in Minnesota, at the Waukegan crushing and screening plant at Virginia, Minn., on the Mesabi. In the nature of a 20-million dollar experiment, the plant will lead to basic information before building permanent commercial taconite plants and will have the capacity to produce approximately 1,000,000 tons per year.

Prominent among the mines which installed heavy-media equipment this year for the processing of lean ore was the Hill-Annex open pit mine. In recent years the concentrator at the Hill-Annex had three conventional washing units and in the past year, two of these units were supplanted by heavy density equipment and the plant now has one conventional unit of standard washing practice and two units of heavy media.

The Prindle mine of the W. S. Moore Co. at Virginia, Minn., is another Mesabi range mine which began installation this season of the mobile heavy media separator plant. The Prindle mobile mill will handle 250 tons of mill feed per hour. The Wacootah mine at Mountain Iron, Minn., a producer of direct merch ore for many years, also installed new crushing, screening and washing plant facilities this year. The new plant at the Wacootah mine, a Wheeling Steel Corp. property, rated to produce 100 tons of concentrates per hour, is an out-door installation.

The M. A. Hanna Co. also started construction in August of this year on new washing and screening plant facilities at the Douglas group of mines at Chisholm, Minn. On the Menominee range The M. A. Hanna Co. installed a crushing and screening plant at the Waukegan mine headframe at Iron River, Mich., this season. The new equipment at the Waukegan affords separation of coarse iron ore from fine iron ores.—From Skillings' Mining Review.

Senator Morse Foiled Anti-Rosenberg Plot

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON — One of the first and most important tests of the new Congress will come as a consequence of the anti-Semitic plot to destroy Mrs. Anna Rosenberg following her nomination as assistant secretary of defense. The votes cast—or not cast—on this test will be noted with the greatest interest for future reference.

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon was one of those chiefly instrumental in puncturing the plot. Morse said afterward, half jokingly and half seriously, that before he took his law degree he had nearly completed work for a Ph. D. in clinical psychology and psychopathology. Therefore he was equipped to find his way through the tissue of lies and half-truths spread before the Senate armed services committee.

Morse now has a resolution before the committee calling for the submission of the record in the Rosenberg hearings to the department of justice for possible action for perjury. The senator from Oregon intends to press this resolution before the Senate itself so there will be a record vote.

Testimony Suppressed
A reading of the record shows that witnesses testifying under oath repeatedly told directly conflicting stories. This was true particularly of Ralph DeSola and his former wife, Mrs. Helen Wiener DeSola. DeSola positively identified Mrs. Rosenberg as being present at meeting of the John Reed club, a Communist organization in New York, when he and his wife were members of the club. Mrs. DeSola said she recalled seeing Mrs. Rosenberg on only one occasion which had nothing to do with any Communist connection.

But the most remarkable testimony bright out by Morse in questioning the former Mrs. DeSola does not appear in the record at all. It was put off the record on the witness's own plea and is now locked in the committee's vaults. Whether it will be sent to the department of justice along with the other testimony, if there is a favorable Senate vote, is still in question.

The testimony of another witness, Benjamin W. Freedman, is also being carefully studied. So is the statement of Dr. Marjorie Shearon, who asked to be allowed to appear against Mrs. Rosenberg. Before Dr. Shearon came into the hearing room, Senator Morse warned that he might be accused of bias in his questioning since the witness has circulated smear propaganda in the Oregon campaign last fall in an effort to defeat him. This attack resulted from Morse's stand on national health insurance. At one time Dr. Shearon was employed by the association of physicians and surgeons.

Senator Morse Objects
In the course of her testimony she said she worked for the Republican National committee for several years. Later, according to her story, she was employed by a Senate committee at the instigation of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. A letter was put in the record showing that she was discharged after about three months.

and while the Republicans were still in control of the committee. At one point in her testimony, Dr. Shearon said that she thought "the burden of proof might be on her (Mrs. Rosenberg) to produce that." She was referring to the possibility of another Anna Rosenberg.

"Just a moment on that, Mr. chairman," Morse said. "As long as I am on any committee in this Senate I am never going to let a witness transfer the burden of proof on the person accused in America. That is exactly the type of tactics that Dr. Shearon and her ilk are trying to get by with in this country. And as one who believes in the constitutional system I want it clearly understood that the burden of proof is on those that bring the accusation and Dr. Shearon has been bringing some accusations and we are waiting for the first scintilla of proof."

Whether a charge of perjury can be sustained in view of the rambling and chaotic nature of the testimony of key witnesses is doubtful. When the hearings were completed and Mrs. Rosenberg completely vindicated, Senator Lester Hunt of Wyoming remarked:

"I just hope that no Hollywood producer ever gets hold of the complete transcript of this thing. If it were put into a movie, it would do more than anything so far to discredit Congress."

That, of course, is what is so shocking about the whole business—that a committee of the Senate could sit for two and a half weeks seriously listening to such a farrago of malicious gossip, rumor and fantasy. And this, it should be added, when the reputation was at stake of a respectable citizen who had been prevailed upon against her own interests to come to Washington to accept a difficult and thankless government position.

It is this aspect of a kangaroo court, with certain senators on the committee seeming curiously enough to want to prolong the whole process, that must give real cause for concern about the future of this country. Breeders of hate, psychopaths of the extreme left and the extreme right, can do the utmost harm when they are allowed to pervert the institutions of democracy.

The Swiss Confederation dates back to 1291 when a group of mountaineers and peasants from three cantons met in a mountain meadow and formed a league.

Crippled Man Lives Months In Henhouse; Taken To Hospital

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. — (AP) — Fifty-five year-old Leo Speck faced the new year from the warmth and comfort of a hospital room — behind him were long nightmare months in a filthy unheated chicken coop.

He was found by health authorities last week—too crippled to walk—lying on the straw-strewn floor of a rickety chicken coop on his mother-in-law's property near Lesage, 12 miles from here.

He was wearing only underclothing and a ragged shirt beneath a tattered army coat. He had no trousers. His face and eyes were swollen and red from frostbite.

He was too sick to talk, and apparently hadn't eaten for days. His wife and mother-in-law, who live in a house on the property with his 10-year-old son, told county health director Dr. Luke W. Frame, Speck moved into the chicken shack of "his own free will."

Dr. Frame says neighbors told him Speck has spent most of his time in the coop since last spring when he became too crippled to walk. The department of public assistance has accepted his case.

Wildlife Talk Will Be Given

Slated For Service
Club Saturday Night

Paul Barrett, of the conservation institute of Michigan State College, will give an illustrated talk on the wildlife of Michigan at the 4-H Service club meeting Saturday night. The meeting will be held at the Manistique town-ship hall.

Barrett has been working on conservation, game management, and land use for over 20 years and has first hand information on Michigan's conservation problems. He will use colored slides to illustrate his talk.

Other business scheduled for Saturday's meeting are the installation of the 1951 officers, arranging a program for the year, and dancing and lunch.

State Police Here Travel Total Of 79,660 Miles In 1950

Seven officers on duty at the Manistique state police post traveled 79,660 miles and worked 19,864 hours during 1950, according to an annual report received today by Sgt. N. H. Modders, post commander.

The complete report follows: Patrol miles, 47,331; complaint miles, 24,155; other miles, 8,274. Complaints received, 780; from other posts, 82; complaint arrests, 190.

Car hours on patrol, 3,604; arrests and summons, 334; cars assisted, 172; property inspections, 2,613; liquor inspections, 2,613; cars checked and verbal warnings, 1,205. Patrol hours, 6,490; complaint hours, 3,812; desk and clerical hours, 6,157; fatigue hours, 1,012; other hours, 12,393; total hours, 19,864.

Briefly Told

Recreation Board—The Manistique recreation board will meet at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Munising Car Damaged—A car driven by Abraham Artibe, 71, of Munising, was damaged when it rolled over in a snowbank on Federal Highway 13 Tuesday after skidding on ice. The accident occurred at 11:55 a. m. about seven miles north of US-2. Neither the driver nor his wife, who was riding with him, was injured. The Artibe's were given a ride back to Munising by a passing motorist, and a Munising wrecker was later dispatched to tow their car to the Alger county city. Manistique state police investigated the accident.

Golden Star Lodge—The Golden Star Lodge will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frank Morey, Schoolcraft avenue.

Order of Runeberg—The Order of Runeberg will meet tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ott, River street.

Agnes Rebekah Lodge—The Agnes Rebekah Lodge No. 159 will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the VFW hall. All members are urged to attend as there will be an installation of new officers. Mrs. Leonard Richards will be the hostess for the evening.

Hospital Group Has Dinner Meeting On Tuesday, January 9

A dinner meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital will be held Tuesday evening, January 9, in the parlors of the Presbyterian church.

Members are asked to bring their own table service and to make reservations with Mrs. Kenneth Van Eyck or other members of the finance committee.

Following the dinner, scheduled for 6:30, there will be a short program under the direction of Mrs. I. J. McLaughlin and a brief business meeting.

All members have been urged to attend this important session. Women of Schoolcraft county desiring to join the auxiliary also are urged to attend.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of sex and energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exercising or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause setting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. While often otherwise caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

The club runs its own program, operates a snack and soft drink bar, and maintains order. Youths from high school freshman to 20 years of age, inclusive, can attend the Teen parties. The VFW, which makes its clubrooms available at no cost to the teens, usually has one or two representatives at each party but does not interfere with the youth group in its plans.

Since its organization last September the club has taken in enough funds from its snack bar and dance admissions to be self-supporting. Parties, held on Friday evenings, were discontinued during the holidays but will be resumed after school starts. (Photo by Bradley)

Educational Problems And Trends Discussed By Speakers at Meeting

How the Manistique public schools, with existing facilities, are meeting current educational needs, and some trends which indicate that more classroom space will be required in the future were described to members of the Manistique Lions club Tuesday evening by Carl Olson, high school principal, and Stanley Carlyon, shop instructor.

Speaking first, Carlyon said that some future trends can often be determined by reviewing past events and the lives of former national leaders. The same principle is applicable to education, he said.

He traced the development of the local high school shop from the early days when only drafting and woodworking were taught to the present time when courses in welding and auto shop are on the curriculum. "As training requirements in industry and business have altered, we have endeavored to keep abreast of the times, tailoring our curriculum and teaching methods to fit the needs of the day," he said.

Building Good Citizens
Carlyon touched briefly on the general enrollment increase throughout the nation, stating that more students are staying in school because of the need for more education to meet job competition, in private business.

"We are trying, however, to give students more than basic vocational training," he said. "We also endeavor to release them to society better equipped morally and socially to pass the tests of good citizenship," he concluded.

General curriculum changes over the past few years and an indicated need for more classroom facilities here during the next decade were outlined by Principal Olson in his discussion.

Schools originally established a curriculum composed of academic subjects, he said, but during the past few years vocational courses have been made. In this way, by adding to the program of studies, modern schools are trying not only to produce a good citizen but one basically equipped for some vocation, he stated.

Built For 300

The speaker paid tribute to the school officials who were responsible for the construction of the present high school building, declaring that they had built an edifice designed for 300 students but capable of servicing up to 400 efficiently. When the school was built the high school enrollment was between 200 and 250 students, Olson said.

During the depression of the early thirties, the enrollment increased to around 400, in the middle thirties another jump occurred, and in the middle forties the enrollment passed the 500 mark, he stated.

Although no student is being deprived of an educational opportunity, present facilities are severely taxed, he said, with only five out of 20 teachers with individual home rooms and all auditorium, classroom seating capacity filled to the utmost.

Another upswing in enrollment during the next 10 years may create an entirely different picture, Olson stated. The speaker, using charts, revealed the tremendous increase in the national and Michigan birth rate during the past five years, and the gradual jump in elementary school enrollment. Statistics indicate, he said, that enrollment in the nation's elementary schools will increase seven million from 1949 to 1957. During 1949 the nation had 900,000 classrooms, but studies reveal that the country should have had 450,000 more to serve students most efficiently at 30 members per class. During 1949 only 17,000 teachers were graduated from the nation's colleges when actual needs indicated that 76,982 should have obtained their teaching qualifications, he declared.

The situation in Manistique public schools follows the state and national trend closely, the speaker said, with a sharp increase in kindergarten enrollment hitting the schools in 1952 and 1953 and rolling up through the elementary grades into high school by the end of the decade.

At the conclusion of the talks both speakers answered various questions asked by club members. The speakers were introduced by Frank M. Gierke, sr.

21 Stores To Shorten Hours

Agree To Close On Saturday Afternoon

Twenty-one Manistique stores agreed this week to close their stores on Saturday afternoons, commencing Saturday, January 6. The closing hour will be 12 o'clock.

Purpose of the change, it is announced, is to provide better working conditions and longer weekends for store employees.

Stores included in the program are hardware, appliance stores, plumbing and heating shops, lumber and fuel companies, furniture stores, and dry cleaning establishments. Not all stores in these business classifications have joined the movement, but most of them have, it is announced.

This is the first time that such a large group of commercial establishments have united to shorten the work week since local grocery stores inaugurated a Thursday afternoon closing program several years ago. The Thursday afternoon schedule was later abandoned.

ed by most of the grocers, but a few still continue to lock their doors Thursday noon.

Stores closing Saturday afternoons will maintain their regular store schedule the rest of the week, including Friday openings until 9 p. m.

Aliens Required To File Reports

Deadline Is 10 Days After January 1

Aliens are required to report their current addresses to the commissioner of immigration and naturalization within 10 days after January 1, 1951, according to a bulletin received yesterday by G. Leslie Bouschor, county clerk.

The bulletin, mailed by M. H. Powers, officer in charge of the immigration and naturalization office at Sault Ste. Marie, listed regulations governing the registration, and a sample registration card was included in the envelope.

The bulletin states that the "Internal Security Act of 1950 provides that every alien who is required to register under the Alien Registration Act of 1940 and who is residing in the United States on January 1, 1951, and January 1 of any succeeding year, must report his current address to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization within 10 days of such date."

Aliens not required to register are those here on temporary permits who have not overstayed their time and students whose admission period has not expired and who have not violated any of the conditions of their admission.

Aliens whose naturalization has not been completed also are required to register.

Cards for making such registration reports are available at all postoffices. When cards have been filled out they must be taken to a post office and handed to a postal clerk; cards must not be mailed, according to the official announcement.

Gourmet's Cookbook Is Now Available At Manistique Library

Local lovers of fine food and unusual culinary delicacies will derive a thrill from reading the Gourmet's Cookbook, received Tuesday at the Manistique public library, it is announced by Mrs. Dorothy Shipman, librarian.

A large, beautifully bound book, with 781 pages of sharp, clear print and colorful illustrations, the text runs the gamut of the world's outstanding food dishes. Every food preparation to delight the epicure, from the most intriguing seafood dish to a taste-tempting salad, can be found in the book, the librarian said.

The Gourmet's Cookbook, published by Gourmet's magazine, is one of two books added to the library collection by three friends of the late Mrs. Gertrude Craver.

4-H Leaders Meet Jan. 11

Crafts And Sewing Program Scheduled

Schoolcraft county 4-H club leaders will meet at the Manistique town hall Thursday, January 11, for a crafts and sewing demonstration.

Miss Dorothy Erler, assistant state club leader from Marquette, will demonstrate and discuss construction methods in sewing. This is the second of a series of three meetings that have been arranged for the local club leaders.

At the first meeting styles, trends, patterns, and materials were covered. A third meeting in March will deal with finishes for garments.

Leaders of craft projects will be given a demonstration on ceramics which will include the making of molds, shells, and casting. This material will be presented by Fred C. Bernhardt, district 4-H club agent.

The other book is The World's Greatest Christmas Stories, compiled by Fritz Kredel. Both books were presented in memory of Mrs. Craver whose taste in good literature and good food was well known to her Manistique friends.

Old Resident Taken By Death

Last Rites Friday For Paul Vanderkerkoff

Paul Vanderkerkoff, 84, retired Soo Line section hand and a resident of Gladstone for the past half century, passed away at St. Francis hospital Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock where he had been a patient for the past 3 days.

Born in Belgium Dec. 8, 1866, Vanderkerkoff came to the United States when 24 years old. Since the turn of the century he had resided in Gladstone and for some time he had made his home with the Edward Eilers on North Seventeenth street. During his active lifetime he was employed by the Soo Line railroad as a section hand.

He was a member of All Saints Catholic church.

He is survived by two stepdaughters, Mrs. Walter Hanson and Mrs. August Boden and a stepson, August Picard, all of Gladstone. His wife passed away on January 27, 1927.

The body is resting in state at the Skradski Funeral home where the Rosary will be recited this evening at 8 o'clock.

Funeral services will be held in All Saints' Catholic church Friday morning at 9 o'clock, the Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette officiating. Burial will be made in Fernwood cemetery.

Pacific Coast May Quit Rose Bowl Participation

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — (AP)—The officials of the Pacific Coast conference electrified the world of college football today by disclosing that it is seriously considering discontinuing or modifying its annual participation in the Rose bowl.

The conference will hold a special, unprecedented meeting "shortly after" the NCAA convention in Dallas next week to decide whether it will continue to participate in the New Year's day grid classic next year and in the years to come.

The startling decision, revolutionary in modern football history, was made for one simple reason, the Coast said.

College football, said President H. P. Everest of the Pacific Coast conference, is getting too big for its trousers.

Must Relieve Tensions
"We must take steps to relieve the tensions, and this is the first step," were the words of the University of Washington professor.

The pressure to win football games, as crystallized in any post-season bowl game is too much, said Prof. Everest, in effect, as he issued a formal statement adopted by the Coast conference.

He made it clear that the announcement was not final. The PCC may continue, modify or discontinue its present participation in the big game, but nothing will be decided until the special session at a site and date to be announced later following the NCAA meeting.

Schmidt In Dark
Just 24 hours previously, the commissioners of the Big Ten and PCC, Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson and Victor O. Schmidt, spoke hopefully of a renewal of the expired five-year Rose bowl pact between the two loops. Schmidt said he was not aware of the events coming up.

The first the Tournament of Roses football committee knew of the turn of events came when sports writers told them that the PCC might secede from the bowl. The Rose bowl committee, Chairman Lathrop K. Leishman, Bill Nicholas, J. R. Biggar, Jr., and the overall president of the Tournament of Roses, L. Clifford Kenworthy, were stunned, surprised and shocked.

"We expect to whip this problem just as we have whipped other problems," said Leishman. "I fully expect that we will have a major attraction in Pasadena next New Year's day."

Recognize Evils
Everest, after his formal statement, said the conference recognizes the evils of proselytizing and recruiting by alumni, and appreciates the tremendous pressure placed on players and coaches that mounts as a post-season game approaches and is played.

The platoon system, spring practice, the expansion of regular season games from seven to nine and 10, all have combined to build up the "tensions" Everest enumerated.

The conference discussed the possibility of a post-season game between the Big Ten and the PCC immediately following the regular season. But whether the Rose bowl would be the site was not discussed.

PCC coaches here left the matter to the higher echelon to decide.

Coach Lynn O. Waldorf, whose California team was defeated by the Big Ten's Michigan team Jan. 1 by a 14-6 score in the fifth straight loss for the PCC to the Big Ten, said:

"It is understandable that the coaches would be subjected to pressure but I do feel that there has been undue pressure put on the players."

Wilt Is Awarded Sullivan Trophy
NEW YORK — (AP)—Fred Wilt, the FBI man who came out of retirement to run in the 1948 Olympic games, will receive the 1950 James E. Sullivan memorial trophy for amateur athletes.

The 29-year-old graduate of Indiana now running for the New York Athletic club is national outdoor 5,000-meter champion and an internationally-respected competitor at routes from a mile to 10,000 meters.

On the basis of 5-3-1 for first, second and third place, Wilt scored 1,197 points to beat out Joe Verdeur of Philadelphia, 1948 Olympic breast stroke champion and one of the world's outstanding swimmers.

Adolph Weinacker of Michigan State college placed sixth in the balloting.

Stan Heath Joins Cleveland Browns
CLEVELAND — (AP)—Quarterback Stan Heath, once of the Green Bay Packers, has teamed up with the professional football champion Cleveland Browns, the team said today.

Heath, 25, played last season with Hamilton in Canada. Heath led the nation in passing in 1948 while playing for the University of Nevada.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

There is none so dogmatic as a second-guessing sports writer. Like Braven Dyer of the Los Angeles Times, for instance.

Dyer's pride, like that of many other Californians, was deeply scratched when Michigan dumped the Cal Bears. Wrote Dyer:

"Coach Pappy Waldorf pulled a terrible boner when he failed to order a field goal in the first half. Most of us smarties upstairs nearly fell out of the press coop when Pappy didn't order a three pointer on first down (near the half after Cal had a one-touchdown lead)."

"If that situation didn't call for a field goal, then all I have ever learned about how to win football games is worthless. Nine points at the half could have won the game."

Perhaps Dyer would have called for a field goal attempt. But few coaches would have in that situation.

Cal had just scored one touchdown rather easily and was pushing Michigan all over the field with three fine runners biting off yardage in big chunks. There was little to indicate at the time that Cal would have any serious trouble getting that second touchdown—and several more the second half.

We'd be willing to bet our already-spent Christmas bonus that, if Cal had made the field goal and Michigan had made two touchdowns in the second half, Dyer would have been going to criticize Waldorf for kicking the field goal rather than going for the second touchdown.

It's easy to second-guess after the game is over.

There may be more justification to the question Dick Hyland, ex-Stanford grid star and coast sports writer, raises as to why Waldorf stuck with a seven-man, diamond defense in the second half.

The seven-diamond is a good defense against a running attack but weak against passes. It would seem logical, then, for Waldorf to have had an alternate defense ready when Michigan started cutting loose with passes. But he didn't and he fell with his diamond—or 1-2-1 defense.

But, undoubtedly, Waldorf had some reason for sticking with his defense. After all, it worked well in the first half.

At any rate, Waldorf can be justified if he is, a little "down" for a few days. Anything a coach does in defeat is wrong! Why anyone wants to stay in the coaching racket is hard to understand.

Leahy Sorry Irish Voted 'Top Flops'

SOUTH BEND — (AP)—Frank Leahy, whose 1950 Notre Dame football team was voted "flop" of the year, admitted today that "we didn't exactly set the world on fire."

"I'm sorry about the season and I'm sorry about that new title," the Irish coach said. "We seem to be extremists—either very high or very low. We'll simply try hard to do better in the future."

Leahy was commenting on an Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters that showed his team voted by a wide margin the disappointment of the year.

The contest wasn't even close. One hundred and thirty-three voters of 22 participating gave the Irish the nod for top 1950 flop. Joe Louis, boxing immortal who failed to win back his once-retired heavyweight crown from Ezzard Charles, was runner-up in the poll with 16 first place votes. However, the Brown Bomber, still fighting, shrugged off some of the stigma with a convincing pounding of Freddie Beshore last night. He stopped Beshore in the fourth round of their Detroit match.

Notre Dame won four games, lost four and tied one last season. In a pre-season AP poll the Irish were picked as probable national champions. The previous year they were named "team of the year." Notre Dame teams in 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949 were undefeated. Hence, Leahy's "extremists" observation about Irish football fortunes.

Not all reaction on the Notre Dame campus was as contrite as Leahy's. The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, university president, declared:

"We don't feel here that Notre Dame's team was the flop of the year. Our team played to win and played the best it could. After that, the score is not so important. One team always has to lose."

"Michigan No Flop"
"We lost four games. The team that went to the Rose bowl lost three. Would you consider, then, that Michigan should be ranked top No. 2 of the season?"

The AP poll gave the Notre Dame football team 455 points for its painful title. This was on the basis of three points for a No. 1 pick, two for second and one for third. Louis got 156 total points.

Third in the poll was the Boston Red Sox baseball team, with 15 first place votes and 123 points.

The top 10 flops with first place and total votes also included: St. Louis Cardinals, baseball (9-76); Brooklyn Dodgers, baseball (8-73); Southern Methodist, football (9-60); Minnesota, football (3-25); U. S. Davis Cup team, tennis (1-23); Philadelphia Eagles, football (1-23); Joe Page, Yankee pitcher, baseball (1-21).

TOLEDO BEATS WAYNE
DETROIT — (AP)—Toledo's Rockets unleashed their vaunted power in the second half to blast Wayne university's basketball team 58-42 here last night. The victory marked Toledo's 11th in 12 starts this season. Wayne now has a season record of four wins and three losses. Jack Freeman, Toledo forward, had scoring honors with 20 points.

Rangers Finally Defeat Redwings
(By The Associated Press)
It took half the National hockey league season, but the New York Rangers finally boasted a victory today over the Detroit Red Wings and neared a tie for third place in the standings.

The Rangers, who have been playing a fired-up game in recent weeks, ran up a 3-0 lead over Detroit last night at Madison Square garden. Then, after watching the Wings tie the score early in the final period, New York put on the heat and rammed two goals in to the Detroit net to grab a tinging 5-3 decision before 8,265 fans.

The victory, with Edgar L. Prade leading the Ranger assault with one goal and two assists, gave New York 29 points and left them a single point back of Chicago, Montreal and Boston—all deadlocked in third place with 30 points each.

Louis Tops Charles, Says Kayoed Beshore

DETROIT — (AP)—Joe Louis' tremendous home town following argued vociferously today—in the wake of Joe's smashing victory over outclassed Freddie Beshore last night—that the old Brown Bomber is still the best heavyweight in the business.

Louis took another step up the comeback ladder by stopping Beshore handily in two minutes and 48 seconds of the fourth round of a scheduled ten-rounder.

Referee Johnny Weber halted the one-sided battle to save the bloodied Beshore, his left eyelid badly cut and his nose battered, from further punishment.

Remarkable Improvement
Ex-champion Louis' many roots—13,096 fans paid $41,425 to see the scrap—pointed out that it took current champion Ezzard Charles 14 rounds to finish Beshore.

Indians Play Tomorrow At Manistique

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Emeralds will end their holiday rest here Friday night by taking on the powerful Newberry five.

Newberry, with victories over Negaunee, Munising and the Canadian Soo to its credit, is expected to provide rough going for Manistique. Coach Robert Hussey thinks the Luce county quintet really showed its power when it lost to top-rated Marquette by only five points.

Dick Burnis and Don Quick, two of Hussey's fast forwards, suffered sprained ankles over the holidays, and it is doubtful either will see action Friday night. Quick injured his ankle skiing and Burnis sprained his during holiday basketball practice.

Hussey reported today that he probably would start Jerry Anderson at forward with Bob St. John. Jerry Popour is slated for the pivot spot and Jim McNamara will go in at one of the guard positions. Either Hough or Reque will start at the other.

The varsity game is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. Reserves of both schools will play a preliminary starting at 7 p. m.

Spartan Athletes Have Busy Schedule

EAST LANSING — (AP)—Five Michigan State winter sports teams see action this weekend, two of them making their debut against Western conference competition.

The basketball team will play Northwestern at Chicago Saturday night. That same night at East Lansing the swimming team will stage a dual meet with Northwestern at the East Lansing pool.

The wrestlers open their season against Pittsburgh Friday night at the Jenison fieldhouse and the boxing team takes on the Quantico Marines here Saturday night.

The hockey team is on the road to meet North Dakota at Grand Forks tonight and Friday night. The MSC basketball team will carry a record of four wins in five starts to the Big Ten opener against Northwestern. The Wildcats won four of seven early games.

The Spartan swimmers will be somewhat weaker in team strength than last season, when they won 10 of 11 dual meetings, losing only to national champion Ohio State. George Hookerhyde, long distance free styler from Grand Rapids, and Clark Scholles of Highland Park, NCAA and NAU 100 yard free style champion, are expected to do the individual stalling.

The Pitt wrestlers already have won two dual meets. Spartan Coach Fendley Collins will attempt to improve over last season's five and five split record with a squad led by Gene Gibbons, runner-up in the NCAA championships last year, at 177 pounds.

Some lively bouts are in the offing for the fight card between the Michigan State boxers and the Marines Saturday, the first dual meet for both teams. MSC's George Makris has most of the same men returning from a squad that won all six dual meets last year and placed second in the NCAA finals.

The Marines have a lineup that includes a list of Golden Gloves and NAU champions. The top bout promises to be the 175-pound fight between Spartan Chuck Spieser of Detroit, runner-up in the NCAA finals last year, and Tommy Thompson of the Marines, NAU light heavyweight champion.

shore last August. Nobody would deny that Beshore's crowding, wild-swinging tactics were tailor-made for Louis. But the experts were virtually unanimous in their belief that Louis showed remarkable improvement in disposing of the Harrisburgh, Pa., ex-sailor in such workmanlike fashion.

Joe's lethal right hand, seldom thrown in his losing battle with Charles last summer or in his most recent so-so bout with Cesar Brian, was powerful. It was equally effective in six-inch straight punches or in uppercuts. His famous left jab was sharp and shattering.

At the finish the 36-year-old Louis was unmarked and not even breathing heavily. His trim weight of 210½ testified to his good condition. This was nearly eight pounds less than he weighed for his post-"retirement" title fight with Charles.

Needed Three Stitches
Beshore, 10 years younger than Louis and nearly 19 pounds lighter at 191½, had no quarrel with Weber's decision. Neither did his manager, Harry (Champ) Segal, who said he would have asked to have the fight stopped after the fourth round because of Beshore's cut eye.

Three stitches were required to mend the gash. Beshore sided with Louis' supporters in saying that the ex-champ is still a better fighter than Charles.

"Joe hits you square," Beshore said. "Charles just cuffs you."

International Boxing club officials said Louis' next fight would be Feb. 7 at Miami, Fla. The probable opponent is Johnny Holman of Chicago.

After the fight, Louis' followers threw a big party for him at a local hotel. There were hundreds of guests.

Defeat By Princeton May Aid MSC Cagers

EAST LANSING — (AP)—Michigan State's basketball coaches feel that the 52-46 spanking administered by Princeton Saturday night may be good medicine for the Spartan squad.

Michigan State, a team that was expected to show little this year, had won four in a row before running into unbeaten Princeton. Some sports followers are feeling the Spartans were playing above their heads.

The Spartans actually outscored Princeton, getting 18 field goals from the floor to 16 for the Tigers. They were beaten from the free throw line as Princeton registered 20 gift shots to only 10 for MSC.

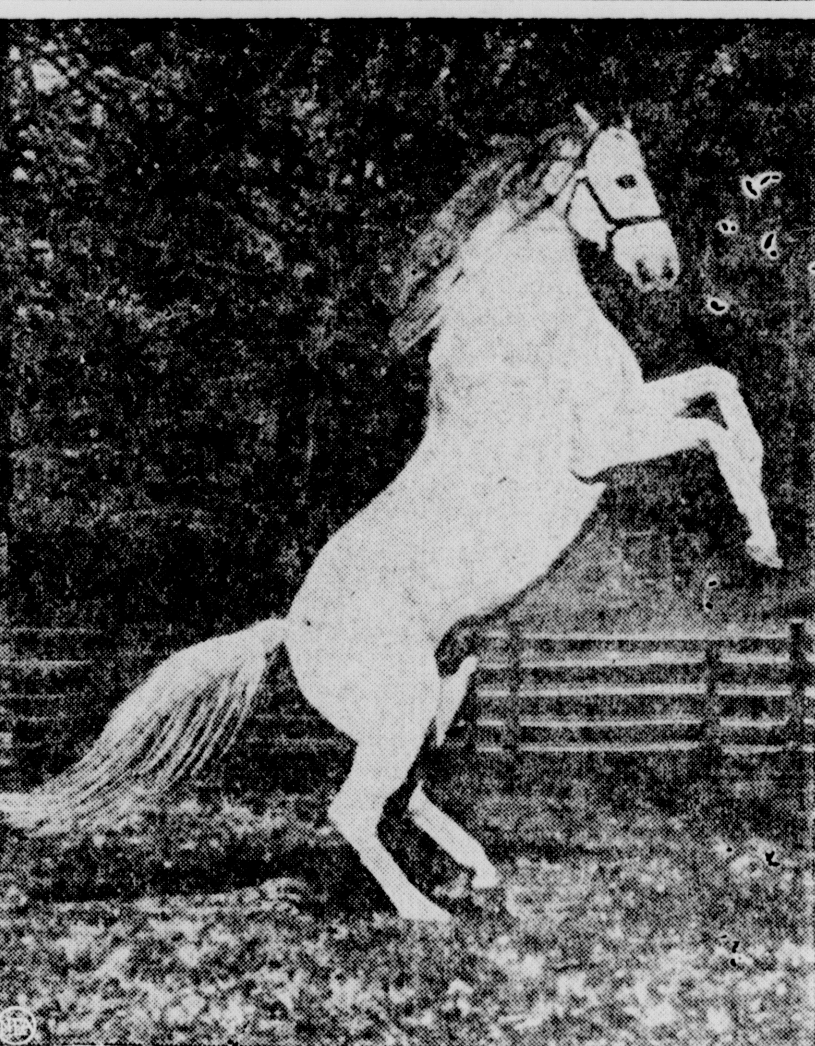

May Be Best Thing
While the Spartans still were riding high, Coach Pete Newell had his fingers crossed. "I'll have a better idea of what kind of a team they are after the first defeat," he declared.

The feeling is that the Spartans might have been getting too cocky after their surprise successes at the start of the season. Their followers are glad that the setback came before the start of Western conference play.

The team is apt to work just a little bit harder now and, in the long run, the defeat by Princeton might have been the best thing that could have happened.

Saturday night's MSC-Princeton game furnished proof that Revenge it is!

And the Escanaba Hawks got it last night before more than 800 fans at the fairgrounds rink as they hung a 6-4 defeat on the Canadian-dominated Eagle River Falcons.

In the opening game of the season Eagle River had plastered a 9-1 defeat on the Hawks and that ranked. But last night the locals "paid their bills."

All the Escanaba goals were made by two brother combinations—Ted and Marc Olson and Bob and Bert Petaja—but it was a team victory as Walt Bechtold, Leighton Hahn, Harold Sampson, Guy Poce and the rest of the hard-skating Hawks carried the fight constantly to the Falcon lair.

Five Points to T. Olson
Ben Artwick was his usual brilliant self in the Hawk nets as he beat off determined attacks by the Falcons headed by speedy Johnny Rea, Angelo Chiccarelli, Fiovo Tagliabraci, Tom Brodie and Earl Brandon.

Ted Olson lighted the scoring bulb twice and added three assists. Bert Petaja netted two goals and got one assist. Bob Petaja got one goal, the Hawks' first at 14:10 on an assist from Bechtold, that tied the score. Marc Olson got one goal and added three assists.

The game was more than 13 minutes off before the first score, a net-bulger by Rea on an assist from Chiccarelli. The Hawks tied it up and went ahead in the first period on scores by Bob Petaja and Marc Olson.

Brodie tied it up midway in the second period on a solo but Bert Petaja came back with help from the two Olsons to give the Hawks the lead again at 17:50. The lead was short-lived, however, as smiling Art Brunetta, husky Falcon defenseman flashing an orange headgear, lofted a scorer from near the blue line.

Fight Off Thrusts
When Bert Petaja scored at 3:20 in the third period on an assist by Ted Olson, it put the Hawks in a lead they never relinquished. Ted Olson widened the gap four minutes later but Brandon counted on a solo jaunt to offset.

The Hawks hung on to their slim one goal margin for the next seven minutes, fighting off determined Eagle River thrusts. Less than a half minute before the game ended, Ted Olson brought a tremendous roar from the crowd with a short shot on an assist by Bechtold.

Hockey Sidelights

An attractive young woman was leaning over the boards last night ... Ted Baldwin warned her: "You'll have to move back to a seat in the bleachers" ... she replied: "That's my husband in the Escanaba net ... if I can't stay here, I'm going to take my husband and go home." ... Ted let her stay ... she was the wife of Ben Artwick, Escanaba's sensational goal tender from Stambaugh.

Bob Petaja, one of THE Petajas, may have broken a bone in his shoulder last night when he was jammed against the boards ... Dr. Harold Groos, team physician, who had a busy night, is awaiting results of X-rays taken after the game.

There's nothing soft about Jack Sanborn of the Eagle River team ... Dr. Groos put three clamps in a gash cut in his cheek by a teammate's stick ... minutes later, Sanborn was back playing again with a patch covering the wound.

Walt Bechtold and Harold Sampson did a lot of hard playing and were in the Falcons' hair most of the time they were on the ice.

It's getting to be quite a problem keeping big Ed O'Leary, Hawk defenseman from Gladstone, in skates ... he's so rugged they keep breaking.

An interested spectator was the wife of Ted Olson ... Mrs. Olson is recovering from an operation on a slipped disc in her spine, the same injury that cost the Chicago Blackhawks ... she was injured while skating ... the Olsons have an eight-month-old child.

It was the last game for Fr. Louis Cappel, whose interest in hockey was largely responsible for getting it going seriously in Escanaba this year ... Fr. Cappel is being transferred to Wakefield.

Here's the rest of the Hawks' schedule for January ... at Portage Lake Sunday ... at Portage Lake Wednesday, Jan. 10 ... at Calumet Jan. 13 and at Eagle River Jan. 14 ... Portage Lake here Wednesday, Jan. 17 ... Marquette here Wednesday, Jan. 24 ... at Marquette Jan. 25 ... and Calumet here Sunday, Jan. 28.

Life Span In Michigan Now Close to 70 Years

For the first time, a generation is being born in Michigan which might reasonably expect to live out its biblically-allotted three score and ten years, the Michigan Department of Health reports.

In a summary highlighting public health gains during the past fifty years, the department notes: "In the year 1900, Michigan men were living an average of 53 years and Michigan women an average of 55 years."

"Then, and throughout the intervening years, Michigan's average length of life exceeded the national average by about two years. The national average life expectancy of a baby boy born at the half-century was 68 years and of a baby girl, 71 years. Michigan babies could expect to live even longer."

Better Health

Prevention of communicable diseases and improvement in maternal, infant and child care, in sanitation, in nutrition, in reduction of health hazards in industry, and a better approach to the problems of chronic illness were cited by the department as being largely responsible for better health at the close of the first half of the 20th century.

"Half-century comparisons are dramatic," the department reports. "Where in 1900 there were 2,706 cases of diphtheria and 529 deaths from the disease, only 119 cases and 11 deaths were reported in 1949 and less than 75 cases in the first ten months of 1950."

"Where in 1900 there were 694 cases of smallpox and 9 deaths from the disease, there was no case of smallpox in 1949 or in the first ten months of 1950."

Fewer Babies Die

"While typhoid fever was responsible for 5,122 cases of illness and 869 deaths in 1900, it caused only 48 cases of illness and only one death in 1949. Scarlet fever, which killed 272 Michigan people in 1900, killed only 4 in 1949."

Reductions in infant and maternal deaths showed comparable advances. The department report said, "While one out of every seven babies born alive in 1900 died before they were a year old, in 1950, only one out of every 38 died during the first year."

"While one out of every 100 mothers giving birth to live babies died of causes related to childbirth at the beginning of the century, only one out of every 1,497 mothers died of causes related to childbirth at the close of the half-century."

Longer Life Span

The department reported that five communicable diseases were among the ten leading causes of death in the state in 1900, while in 1950 only two communicable diseases—tuberculosis and pneumonia—remained as major causes of death.

Longer life span of Michigan people and the increase in diseases of later years gave particular significance to the adult health services of health departments, the report said, and more public health emphasis is being placed on programs for the early detection, and early care of such diseases as cancer, diabetes and heart disease.

In summing up the public health needs in Michigan at the half-century, the Michigan Department of Health urged more completely staffed and better financed local health departments; and broader public understanding and participation in health programs.

Fall Fatal To Boy, 17, In Tennessee Cave

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (AP)—A fractured skull suffered in a cave exploring accident was fatal to Edward Donald Ball, Jr., 17.

Ball, son of the Tennessee Chief of Bureau for the Associated Press, fell Thursday into a 40-foot deep crevice five miles from the opening of Higgenbotham cave near McMinnville.

Three fellow high school students were with him at the time. It was 17 hours before he could be removed from the winding, treacherous cavern.

No wonder millions of women anxiously await this great once-a-year beauty event! You save almost 50% on Helena Rubinstein's famous beauty preparations containing Estrogenic Hormones—nature's own "youth" substances. Use them to help retard signs of drying and aging skin. See how much younger, fresher, firmer your face, neck, throat look when you use Helena Rubinstein Hormone Twins daily—the cream at night, oil during the day.
